Rails, Union Negotiators Strive To End Differences

Talks Begin For Settling 5-Year Feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — Urged on Friday by President Johnson, railroad and union negotiators plunged into a 15-day drive toward a goal that has eluded them for five years—settlement of differences which repeatedly have brought this nation to the brink of a general rail shutdown.

Sitting with a special team of federal mediators, representatives of the five operating unions met for three hours Friday morning at the White House.

STATE POSITIONS

Then the union leaders left so the negotiators for more than 200 rail lines could state management positions to the mediators.

Beyond saying they would return at 9:30 a.m. today, union spokesmen had no comment—noting that Johnson had requested both sides to refrain from talking for publication until the negotiations end.

Before they began their separate sessions—face-to-face bargaining will come later—representatives of both sides met briefly with Johnson in the White House rose garden. There they were told that the results of their efforts will have profound bearing on the future of all collective bargaining in America.

After the mediators' afternoon session with management negotiators, White House press secretary George Reedy told reporters Johnson has requested that he be given on next Wednesday "a considered report on the progress and the effectiveness" of the meetings.

Reedy declined to describe the atmosphere at Friday's talks, saying: "Im not going to get into this question of optimistic or pessimistic. These are exploratory sessions. But there always is progress when there is an exchange of information."

He added that Johnson dropped in briefly twice in the morning session and twice in the afternoon meeting. Reedy

WEST GERMANY QUIET

U.S. To Withdraw Troop Contingent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced Friday it is withdrawing about 7,500 troops from West Germany and the Bonn government raised no objection.

In the past, when cold war tensions were higher, any move to reduce U.S. military strength in Europe would have brought strong protests from the West Germans.

LEFTOVER UNITS

The Pentagon said the units being brought back to this country are the last save one of those sent to Germany during the 1961 Berlin crisis, plus troops airlifted to Europe in the "Long Thrust" training exercise of last January-February.

All but one of the armored battalions will start returning next month. The five units being withdrawn total about 5,100 men.

One armored battalion is being kept with the 7th Army in West Germany. A Pentagon spokesman said this is to offset a reduction in 7th Army strength which came about when a battalion-size unit was sent from the 7th Army to the U.S. garrison in Berlin late in 1961.

Sgt. Jerry Cowart, of the Monroe police department, has taken over temporary "foster parent" duties to a little lost dog.

Cowart said while he was patroling on Oliver Road around 7 p.m. Wednesday a small, brown female Chihuahua dog dashed out towards his car from Good Shepherd Lane. When he stopped and opened the door, the small pup tried to jump into the car. Cowart said he attempted to locate the owner of the dog, but one one in the vicinity claimed her so he is going to keep her "in custody" in hopes that the owner will notify him. The police officer said he can be reached at his home phone, No. 322-9946.

Electors Delay Greeted Coolly

BATON ROUGE (AP) — A proposal to delay a showdown vote on the independent presidential electors issue drew cool comment Friday from opponents on the Democratic State Central committee.

The committee meets in the House chamber Saturday to decide whether to throw out the plan for an electors primary in July, which possibly could keep the Democratic Party nominee off the Louisiana ballot.

Bennett Voorhies Jr., Lafayette, and J. D. DeBlieux, Baton Rouge, both committee members, said they opposed further delay. They seek to eliminate the independent electors plan and reportedly they have the upper hand in the fight.

In a letter circulated among state officials, Leander H. Perez Sr., Plaquemines Parish segregationist, appealed for a delay until after the May legislature.

Perez authored the plan, approved by the committee last September, to offer democratic voters two slates of electors in the congressional primary. One slate would be pledged to the national party nominee and one to an independent conservative.

Perez gave as his reason for delay an emergency bill prefiled for the legislature to postpone the congressional primary to September. He asked that the legislature be given time to act on the emergency resolution.

Solon Scores Blood Threat Over Rights

Cautions Senate Of Being Pushed, Panicked To Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, deplored Friday any talk that failure to pass the pending civil rights bill may lead to bloodshed and expressed hope there will be "no more statements of that kind" in the Senate.

But Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., promptly answered that while he thinks Negroes "will make a great mistake if they take their cause to the streets," this will not lead him to "stick my head in the sand" and "not say what I think is inevitable if we do not deliver the full constitutional rights to the Negroes."

'COMPROMISE'

Speaking in the Senate's 27th day of debate on the House-passed measure, Miller insisted he is not saying "we should compromise the principles of the bill" but told the Senate it must not be "pushed or panicked" into action.

Specifically, he urged that the bill's backers be willing to accept some changes "to get a meaningful and reasonable bill."

But the course for compromise didn't grow any smoother as Democratic backers of the bill indicated their distaste for changes in the fair-employment section which were suggested Thursday by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the Republican leader from Illinois.

Dirksen offered his proposed amendments in a conference of Republican senators but failed to get any consensus backing them.

With most of this week having been taken up with proponents' point-by-point presentation in support of the bill, Southerners indicated they would take up the rest of this week and all of next in their rebuttal arguments.

This dashed what had been a slim prospect that the Southerners might permit some voting on amendments next week.

Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., engaged in a lively exchange with Sens. John Stennis, D-Miss., and A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., over Southern court practices.

Douglas said senators from the former Confederate states are attacking the civil rights bill for proposing practices that are common in their home states.

The Illinois senator said a survey shows few if any Southern state courts grant jury trials on contempt charges and yet Southerners were demanding this in the civil rights field.

He said Southerners are using a filibuster to prevent action on the bill in the Senate and yet all Southern state legislatures can limit or cut off debate to force votes, most of them by simple majorities.

Robertson and Stennis asked why Douglas and supporters of the bill oppose the right to jury trials in some circumstances in the proposed bill.

Douglas replied that many parts of the South still have "all-white juries," where a juror would be regarded as a traitor if he voted for conviction in a civil rights case, and as a hero when he voted for acquittal.

Brazil Wary Of Powerful Anti-Red Act

Future President Forewarned Over Purge Measure

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—The new president to be elected by Congress on Saturday is being cautioned in advance that the antisubversion act arming him for a purge of extreme leftists is strong medicine.

Brazilian newspapers voiced both hopes and fears for the measure, decreed by the revolutionary command that deposed President Joao Goulart, to drive Communists and fellow-travelers from positions of influence.

HEATED TEMPERS

A hard-hit Congress reacted with heated tempers and a near brawl on the chamber floor over the suspension of the political rights of more than score of congressmen.

Two deputies spoke up strongly against the antisubversion act. One deputy threw his credentials on the chamber chairman's table in protest. When the chairman started reading a list of substitute deputies the session had to be ended as wild shoving and shouting broke out.

The act "could be a highly dangerous instrument in the hands of a bad president," the newspaper Diario Carioca said in a front-page column. It expressed hope that the new chief executive will use the extraordinary powers only for the nation's welfare.

The independent Jornal do Brasil, a Rio de Janeiro newspaper that strongly opposed Goulart's administration, said the price is very high but is worth paying "for the work of constitutional, material and moral restoration of the country."

The conservative Correio de Manha of Rio said, "The scheme of power mounted by Joao Goulart and his associates, Communists or not, had to be contested."

"But without the abolition of individual guarantees, without the abrogation of the right of defense," it said. "If this nation is against labor goons, and it is; if it is in fact perfecting democratic processes, and it is; if it is for legitimate reforms, and it is, then the command of the victorious forces has given it a vote of nonconfidence."

Virtually with a gun at its back, Congress seemed to be preparing halfheartedly and mechanically for the election, expected to put Gen. Humberto Castello Branco in the presidency for the remainder of Goulart's term. The term will end Jan. 31, 1966.

The announcement of suspension of the political rights of 101 government figures, including 40 legislators, spread gloom in congressional halls.

Military chiefs are empowered to suspend such rights for 10 years and to revoke the mandates of federal, state and municipal lawmakers without court action.

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials privately expressed growing concern Friday over Brazilian military's departure from constitutional procedures, although there was no official comment.

EMBEZZLING CHARGES

Banker-Clergyman Shocks Small Town

FAIRFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A $6,000-a-year banker-clergyman who had lived opulently was charged with embezzlement Friday after federal bank examiners found a $972,371 discrepancy in books of the Fairfield National Bank.

Lee Brown, a cashier-bookkeeper at the bank, was charged with embezzling $15,000. The FBI said the bank examiners still are trying to track down the $972,371 irregularity uncovered by an audit.

Mayor Zack Smith, owner of a paint store, said the feelings of this farming community of 6,300 population are "surprise and embarrassment" that speculations about Brown's high living may have had a basis in fact.

Brown wrote a note saying as much.

Brown, 29, had been with the bank 10 years. He recently built a $30,000 country home for his wife and two children. He kept registered dogs and livestock and about a dozen race horses on the farm.

Bank President D. L. Garrison, said he had discussed the horses with Brown "because they seemed inconsistent with being a banker, but we never suspected anything until last week."

That was when Garrison found Brown's note in the night depository. This followed what Garrison said was a routine request that Brown bring the books up to date. After he left the note, Brown entered a hospital with what doctors called a "mild breakdown."

The note, Garrison said, related that Brown had been tampering with the books for seven years. During that time, Brown was ordained a Baptist minister and preached occasionally in a rural church, participated in the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Young Republicans organization and local men's clubs.

The mercury peaked at a moderate 72 Friday as it rose from a morning low of 39.

Pleasant temperatures will be sustained today by warm southerly breezes at 8 to 18 miles per hour changing to northerly tonight as temperatures drop.

Crowds File Past Coffin Of General

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Huge throngs filed past the open coffin of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur Friday in a salute to the man who gave Norfolk the souvenirs of his life and chose this city for his resting place in death.

The turnout appeared to be surpassing those in New York and Washington earlier this week.

20,000 PERSONS

By midafternoon, mechanical counters showed more than 20,000 persons had viewed MacArthur's body. The line still waiting stretched about six blocks. The schools in Norfolk were closed and many children were in the line.

In an unbroken stream, from 6 p.m. Thursday, people passed through the MacArthur Memorial Museum where the general's body lies in repose. The doors were closed only briefly during the night while cleaners worked.

MacArthur's remains will be entombed in a sunken crypt in the rotunda of the museum after services this morning.

A wreath from President Charles de Gaulle of France arrived Friday morning. It was composed of white carnations and chrysanthemums with a red, white and blue ribbon and "Le General de Gaulle" in gold letters.

On a panel beneath the museum rotunda are inscribed cities, battlefields and campaigns where MacArthur fought. The first is Vera Cruz, Mexico, and the other names go through the first World War, the Pacific War and finally the Korean War.

The last place named is "Yalu." This is the river between Korea and Communist China where Chinese armies threw back the United Nations armies MacArthur commanded.

White's Ferry Road To Close

SIMILAR RIFLES

Beckwith Jurors Hear FBI Expert

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—An FBI firearms expert testified Friday the bullet that killed Negro integration leader Medgar Evers came from a rifle similar to one Byron De La Beckwith acquired in 1960.

Richard J. Poppleton, from the FBI laboratory in Washington, said he could not "tell what gun fired it."

STATE'S CHARGE

The state charged Beckwith, a crusading segregationist from Greenwood, used a World War I Enfield rifle to murder Evers from ambush last June 12.

During the second day of testimony in the re-trial, Dist. Atty. William Waller paraded witnesses before the all-white jury in an effort to link Beckwith with the rifle found near the scene of the ambush.

More testimony will be heard today.

Poppleton said the fatal bullet was too mutilated for him to determine the exact rifle from which it was fired. But, he said there was every indication it came from the Enfield rifle shown the jury.

Questioned by Hardy Lott, Beckwith's attorney, the FBI expert said there would probably be two million such rifles in existence and that the bullet could have been fired from any of them.

An earlier witness, Innis T. McIntyre of Itta Bena, testified he traded an Enfield rifle to Beckwith in 1960. McIntyre said the rifle found at the scene of the shooting appeared identical to the one he traded.

Poppleton testified that cartridge cases turned over to the FBI by McIntyre were fired from the gun police recovered near the scene of the shooting.

John Goza, a Grenada, sporting goods dealer, testified he traded such a sight to Beckwith a month before Evers was shot. He said Beckwith gave him a .45 caliber pistol in return.

McIntyre said he and Beckwith were "gun nuts" who collected and traded guns frequently.

Five Hospital Bond Election Votes Are Cast

Five voters in Ward Five have cast absentee ballots for the upcoming April 21 Glenwood Hospital expansion bond election, while only two and one-hald days remain for voting absentee in this election.

Carter Cozine, chief deputy clerk at the Ouachita Parish courthouse, said absentee voting for the Ward Five, $870,000 bond election will close at 5 p.m. Tuesday. He said the balloting for the election began April 2 and that the votes can be cast absentee in the courthouse basement until 12-noon today and all day Monday and Tuesday.

Cozine added that absentee balloting for the April 28 parish-wide tax election began in the basement of the courthouse Thursday and will continue until 5 p.m. April 21. However, no one has cast absentee votes in this election thus far.

The parish deputy pointed out that all property owners in Ward Five are eligible to cast absentee ballots for the hospital expansion bond election while property owners in the entire parish are eligible to vote in the upcoming tax election.

RESISTANT CELL CURB

Science Discovers Leukemia Factors

CHICAGO (AP)—A boy afflicted with leukemia is playing a leading role in a new attack on the heartbreaking obstacle to curing the blood disease.

The obstacle is that cells causing the blood cancer invariably become resistant to drugs. The drugs usually produce temporary recoveries, but then lose their effect. Resistant cells win the battle.

They discovered that if they mix the resistant bone marrow cells with cells still sensitive to drugs, the resistant cells disappear.

This suggests the same drugs then could be used again and hopefully would deliver another beneficial punch against the patient's leukemia. Presumably this might be repeated many times, to add months or years to the patient's life, even with present drugs, which only extremely rarely produce apparent cures.

When the person becomes resistant to any drugs, then the preserved sensitive cells can be injected. The bone marrow might become populated again with sensitive cells, and drugs then might bring another period of remission or improvement.

U.S. Reaction Sharp On Red Traveling Ban

MOSCOW (AP)—The United States reacted sharply if belatedly Friday to travel restrictions imposed by the Soviet government on four U.S. Embassy attaches.

The embassy said it has protested and denied Soviet charges that the four had engaged in improper activities outside Moscow.

Subsequently the Pentagon in Washington said "appropriate retaliatory action has been taken." It declined to say exactly what was done, but presumably the action affected the Soviet Embassy staff in Washington.

British authorities in London said they were considering a protest to the Soviets on behalf of their air attache, Commodore A. N. Davis, who was restricted like the Americans under accusations that came close to a cry of espionage.

The strange case of the five, all ordered to do no more traveling around the Soviet Union for 90 days, came to light after being kept secret by authorities on both sides for weeks.

Soviet charges against Western diplomats ordinarily have been accompanied in the past by orders for their expulsion.

Rails, Union Negotiators Strive To End Differences

Talks Begin For Settling 5-Year Feud

By midafternoon, mechanical counters showed more than 20,000 persons had viewed MacArthur's body. The line still waiting stretched about six blocks. The schools in Norfolk were closed and many children were in the line.

In an unbroken stream, from 6 p.m. Thursday, people passed through the MacArthur Memorial Museum where the general's body lies in repose. The doors were closed only briefly during the night while cleaners worked.

MacArthur's remains will be entombed in a sunken crypt in the rotunda of the museum after services this morning.

A wreath from President Charles de Gaulle of France arrived Friday morning. It was composed of white carnations and chrysanthemums with a red, white and blue ribbon and "Le General de Gaulle" in gold letters.

On a panel beneath the museum rotunda are inscribed cities, battlefields and campaigns where MacArthur fought. The first is Vera Cruz, Mexico, and the other names go through the first World War, the Pacific War and finally the Korean War.

The last place named is "Yalu." This is the river between Korea and Communist China where Chinese armies threw back the United Nations armies MacArthur commanded.

SIMILAR RIFLES

Beckwith Jurors Hear FBI Expert

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—An FBI firearms expert testified Friday the bullet that killed Negro integration leader Medgar Evers came from a rifle similar to one Byron De La Beckwith acquired in 1960.

Richard J. Poppleton, from the FBI laboratory in Washington, said he could not "tell what gun fired it."

STATE'S CHARGE

The state charged Beckwith, a crusading segregationist from Greenwood, used a World War I Enfield rifle to murder Evers from ambush last June 12.

During the second day of testimony in the re-trial, Dist. Atty. William Waller paraded witnesses before the all-white jury in an effort to link Beckwith with the rifle found near the scene of the ambush.

More testimony will be heard today.

Poppleton said the fatal bullet was too mutilated for him to determine the exact rifle from which it was fired. But, he said there was every indication it came from the Enfield rifle shown the jury.

Questioned by Hardy Lott, Beckwith's attorney, the FBI expert said there would probably be two million such rifles in existence and that the bullet could have been fired from any of them.

An earlier witness, Innis T. McIntyre of Itta Bena, testified he traded an Enfield rifle to Beckwith in 1960. McIntyre said the rifle found at the scene of the shooting appeared identical to the one he traded.

Poppleton testified that cartridge cases turned over to the FBI by McIntyre were fired from the gun police recovered near the scene of the shooting.

John Goza, a Grenada, sporting goods dealer, testified he traded such a sight to Beckwith a month before Evers was shot. He said Beckwith gave him a .45 caliber pistol in return.

McIntyre said he and Beckwith were "gun nuts" who collected and traded guns frequently.

Five Hospital Bond Election Votes Are Cast

Five voters in Ward Five have cast absentee ballots for the upcoming April 21 Glenwood Hospital expansion bond election, while only two and one-hald days remain for voting absentee in this election.

Carter Cozine, chief deputy clerk at the Ouachita Parish courthouse, said absentee voting for the Ward Five, $870,000 bond election will close at 5 p.m. Tuesday. He said the balloting for the election began April 2 and that the votes can be cast absentee in the courthouse basement until 12-noon today and all day Monday and Tuesday.

Cozine added that absentee balloting for the April 28 parish-wide tax election began in the basement of the courthouse Thursday and will continue until 5 p.m. April 21. However, no one has cast absentee votes in this election thus far.

The parish deputy pointed out that all property owners in Ward Five are eligible to cast absentee ballots for the hospital expansion bond election while property owners in the entire parish are eligible to vote in the upcoming tax election.

RESISTANT CELL CURB

Science Discovers Leukemia Factors

CHICAGO (AP)—A boy afflicted with leukemia is playing a leading role in a new attack on the heartbreaking obstacle to curing the blood disease.

The obstacle is that cells causing the blood cancer invariably become resistant to drugs. The drugs usually produce temporary recoveries, but then lose their effect. Resistant cells win the battle.

They discovered that if they mix the resistant bone marrow cells with cells still sensitive to drugs, the resistant cells disappear.

This suggests the same drugs then could be used again and hopefully would deliver another beneficial punch against the patient's leukemia. Presumably this might be repeated many times, to add months or years to the patient's life, even with present drugs, which only extremely rarely produce apparent cures.

When the person becomes resistant to any drugs, then the preserved sensitive cells can be injected. The bone marrow might become populated again with sensitive cells, and drugs then might bring another period of remission or improvement.

Partly Cloudy Forecast Today

Skies will remain partly cloudy in the Twin Cities area today, and the weatherman said there is a possibility of a few isolated light showers.

Temperatures will show indications of summer today as they reach for an expected high of 74 to 80 but will edge back into the cool zone tonight with a low of 52 to 58 forecast.

The mercury peaked at a moderate 72 Friday as it rose from a morning low of 39.

Pleasant temperatures will be sustained today by warm southerly breezes at 8 to 18 miles per hour changing to northerly tonight as temperatures drop.

White's Ferry Road To Close

White's Ferry Road (State Route 143) will be closed Monday from D'Arbonne bridge to the Union Parish line, according to E. M. Wilder, assistant district maintenance engineer for the Louisiana Department of Highways.

Wilder said the strip would be closed to through traffic for several days, but that local traffic would be taken care of. Wilder said the road is being rebuilt.

U.S. Reaction Sharp On Red Traveling Ban

MOSCOW (AP)—The United States reacted sharply if belatedly Friday to travel restrictions imposed by the Soviet government on four U.S. Embassy attaches.

The embassy said it has protested and denied Soviet charges that the four had engaged in improper activities outside Moscow.

Subsequently the Pentagon in Washington said "appropriate retaliatory action has been taken." It declined to say exactly what was done, but presumably the action affected the Soviet Embassy staff in Washington.

British authorities in London said they were considering a protest to the Soviets on behalf of their air attache, Commodore A. N. Davis, who was restricted like the Americans under accusations that came close to a cry of espionage.

The strange case of the five, all ordered to do no more traveling around the Soviet Union for 90 days, came to light after being kept secret by authorities on both sides for weeks.

Soviet charges against Western diplomats ordinarily have been accompanied in the past by orders for their expulsion.

I am 16 years old and would like to know how old I have to be to join the Marine Corps or to enroll in the Marines' ROTC. How many years would I have to enlist for in the Corps? How much, including everything, does the Marine uniform cost? Can I get a pamphlet on what Marines have to do?

According to the local Marine Corps recruiter, you would have to be no younger than 17 to join the Corps — and at 17 you would have to have the consent of your parents. There is no Marine ROTC but graduates of the Naval ROTC program can get a Marine Corps commission since the Corps is part of the Naval service. You can enlist in the regular Marine Corps for periods of 3, 4 or 6 years. There is no cost for the uniform on the initial issue and you receive a monthly clothing allowance to replace worn out clothing and for maintenance of the uniform.

For further information, we suggest you contact the local recruiter in the post office building.

We suggest you seek assistance from a competent legal authority whom you personally trust. • • •

Does the civic center to be built in Monroe have any connection with urban renewal?

No, it does not.

A recent article in your paper mentioned a discussion on the Police Jury regarding the addition to the Agriculture Building in West Monroe. Why should the taxpayers in Ouachita Parish be compelled to provide office space for other than Ouachita Parish employees? The article also said rent would be paid at the rate of $1.10 per square foot. Where can office space be obtained in Monroe or West Monroe for $1.10 per square foot with all facilities furnished by the parish?

L. B. Pettit, president of the Ouachita Police Jury, replies:

"All the offices in the Agriculture building are rented to federal and state government offices. These offices render a great service to the farmers of Ouachita Parish, who receive thousands of dollars each year from the federal and state government for their farms. This is exactly the reason why we have these offices there.

"Most of the other parishes in the state, especially the larger parishes, do the same thing.

"By providing office space in one building, we have these offices centrally located together. If the agencies had to pay a high rent, they would not rent from us and people would have to go all over town to three or four different agencies to contact these government officials."

• • •

Can you use tap water in an electric steam iron, or do you have to always buy distilled water?

Why aren't dirt haulers made to repair Bancroft in West Monroe? They hauled dirt from over the levee. Are contractors in work of this nature financially liable for street wear in connection with their operations?

A spokesman for the district attorney's office points out that unless contractors are operating along a thoroughfare that is restricted against their purpose they are not accountable for wear on the street. If it is a public thoroughfare, any repair eventually needed would be financed through normal channels — assessments on abutting property owners. Should the activities be along a restricted street, or the equipment above a specified weight limitation, if any, other courses might be open.

A West Monroe attorney, meantime, recalls instances in which contractors have been held accountable for street damages stemming from their operations. But the burden of proof is on those attempting to show that the operations caused the damage. In some cases, knowledge of likely damage to the street as a result of those operations must be shown, to involve negligence. "It's hard to do," he reports.

• • •

Does the parish school board have any plans for improving the West Monroe High School grounds and the road running beside the school?

The grounds and driveways committee of the Ouachita Parish School Board and its chairman Roy Cash for the past month has been making inspections of the grounds at every school in the parish system. West Monroe High School was on the tour schedule last Thursday.

Recommendations for needed improvements will be submitted to the full board in the near future and action presumably will follow. A Louisiana Highway Department engineer has made the rounds with the delegation and consulted in the recommendations which will be presented.

Exact nature of suggested improvements at individual locations will not be disclosed singly, officials said, since the board will pass on the entire package.

As to the street near W.M.H.S. West Monroe crews have done work recently aimed at improving drainage. No other projects are contemplated in the immediate future.

Some paper companies do not buy outside hardwood and gum, because they have their own tracts the spokesman added.

Why is the ocean salty?

The salts in the ocean are one result of more than 2,000,000,000 years of disintegration of the igneous (fire formed) rocks of the earth's crust. The soluble materials remain in the ocean; the insoluble precipates have formed sedimentary rocks and the ocean sediments. The ocean contains all the elements originally present in the igneous rock to the extent that they are not soluble (won't dissolve), are not absorbed on clay, or are not removed by biological activity.

Rivers also deliver to the sea suspended material and dissolved salts. Equal amounts of new sediments are being laid down at the same rate. The result is that the sea is in a steady state with regard to the composition of its salt, and it has probably maintained a close approximation to the present composition for millions of years, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

WITHIN BASIC PLAN

Dignitaries In U.S. Prescribe Funerals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The funeral plans used for Gen. of the Army Douglas MacArthur, like those for other famous statesmen and soldiers still living, were ready long before there was any hint of death.

Basic plans which could be used for any individual have been kept and used by the military departments for years.

Recently they have been revised to make preparations for the funerals of specific persons.

Ironically, it was President John F. Kennedy who ordered this revision, before he was assassinated last Nov. 22.

Under the revised program, the basic plans are put into form for use in the death of a particular person and sent to that person for his acceptance, rejection or revision.

The President of the United States designates the person who should be given a state funeral. These include a president, ex-president, president-elect, high military commanders, and some others.

A state funeral involves parading troops, a cortege, the presence of dignitaries and a lying in state. It is the latter which sets it apart. Other funerals may have many of the same features but do not include lying in state in the Capitol rotunda, the White House or at some other government building.

All plans, either basic or specific, are subject to change at the request of the individual or his family.

Changes have been requested by several former presidents and military officers—reportedly including former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower, Harry S. Truman and Herbert Hoover and Gen. Omar Bradley. MacArthur made changes when he looked over the plan for him.

Pentagon sources said Friday that the six-day interval between MacArthur's death and his entombment today did not result from any request by MacArthur for such a time interval. Instead, it said, the six-day interval was the result of the place and time of death and the adaptation of thse circumstances to the funeral procedure approved by MacArthur.

One important factor was that MacArthur died in Walter Reed Army Medical Center here after being brought from his New York home. The death occurred on Sunday. MacArthur had requested the arrangements for preparation of his body at New York and the first of the ceremonies there. This added at least one and probably two or more days to the time required for the full plan, which otherwise might have been over an interval of perhaps four days, it was explained.

The Army, which by tradition handles arrangements for all military or state funerals at Arlington National Cemetery, also often is responsible for general arrangements where burials of prominent persons take place elsewhere.

The basic plans are detailed.

Each is patterned to the position or rank of a Person. Plans for the funeral of anyone from statesman to private soldier are at hand.

IN ASIA, AFRICA

Briton Suggests Red Policy Switch

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minminister Sir Alec Douglas-Home suggested Friday that Soviet Premier Khrushchev may be revising his grand strategy of subversion throughout Asia and Africa.

Sir Alec said the Soviet premier is "beginning to see the danger to all countries" of Communist subersion in those two needy continents.

Addressing a luncheon organized by Commonwealth American and other foreign correspondents, with diplomats of many nations present, the prime minister explained:

"The only result of subverversion can be the improverishment of those continents which will inevitably react on the developed countries."

This improverishment, he argued, would allow Red China to exploit the world's racial divisions. The East-West power struggle would be replaced by a North-South duel. The North would consist of the richer, white nations and the South of the poorer, nonwhite peoples.

"It would be the worst division mankind has ever faced in its history," Sir Alec declared with feeling.

Already, he went on, the Soviets in feuding with the Red Chinese have accused Mao Tze-tung's ultrarevolutionaries of making the most of the fact that they are not white.

Two great debates now are raging in East and West, he added, and they provide their own pointers to the future pattern of events.

"In the East, a great debate is raging in the Communist world as to whether communism is a matter of military, bloody revolution, or in fact a competition in goulash. China is in the early stages of a Communist revolution and it will no doubt be some time before the world will be safe from what Mao Tze-tung has called gunbarrell politics which he favors."

And in the West: "The United States is trading its wheat with Russia and seems willing to help its Communist neighbors in their difficulties. The United States is debating whether such trade can become the instrument with which to break down differences with the Soviet Union."

He spoke as Khrushchev headed home to Moscow after a 10-day visit to Hungary to tackle a new stage in his power struggle with the Communist Chinese.

Some decision may be reached next week when international Communist leaders assemble in Moscow to help the Soviet premier celebrate his 70th birthday. This meeting almost certainly will include top-level talks on the Chinese issue.

In his address, Sir Alec called on Khrushchev to join the West in a common assault on poverty.

"If only those who have capital and resources to spare will come together in a common effort to assist developing countries, then we can clearly look forward to a period of peace and development in the world," he said.

He had this advice for Peking:

"I think the policy of peaceful rivalry is now gaining ground. Khrushchev has recognized — and I think one after another of the Communist leaders and others are going to realize it—that political ideology can no longer be allowed to isolate a nation from economic race unless they are prepared for a huge intake of the skills of the capitalistic world."

What kind of paper is made from a mixture of hardwood and gum. Why did I get a lower price on this type of wood?

Soft gumwood is used to make a very cheap paper which is used as filler in corrugated cardboard boxes. Wood prices are low for hardwood and gum because it is so plentiful, a paper company spokesman said. Some paper companies do not buy outside hardwood and gum, because they have their own tracts the spokesman added.

Why is the ocean salty?

The salts in the ocean are one result of more than 2,000,000,000 years of disintegration of the igneous (fire formed) rocks of the earth's crust. The soluble materials remain in the ocean; the insoluble precipates have formed sedimentary rocks and the ocean sediments. The ocean contains all the elements originally present in the igneous rock to the extent that they are not soluble (won't dissolve), are not absorbed on clay, or are not removed by biological activity.

Rivers also deliver to the sea suspended material and dissolved salts. Equal amounts of new sediments are being laid down at the same rate. The result is that the sea is in a steady state with regard to the composition of its salt, and it has probably maintained a close approximation to the present composition for millions of years, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

FRIENDS

BELGRADE (AP) — Author Sveta Lukic was one of the founding members when the "Society of Friends of the Yugoslav Dramatic Theater" was formed here.

Then he submitted one of his dramatic works to the theater. The play was rejected. Later the same play was accepted by another theater called "Atelier 212."

Dignitaries In U.S. Prescribe Funerals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The funeral plans used for Gen. of the Army Douglas MacArthur, like those for other famous statesmen and soldiers still living, were ready long before there was any hint of death.

Basic plans which could be used for any individual have been kept and used by the military departments for years.

Recently they have been revised to make preparations for the funerals of specific persons.

Ironically, it was President John F. Kennedy who ordered this revision, before he was assassinated last Nov. 22.

Under the revised program, the basic plans are put into form for use in the death of a particular person and sent to that person for his acceptance, rejection or revision.

The President of the United States designates the person who should be given a state funeral. These include a president, ex-president, president-elect, high military commanders, and some others.

A state funeral involves parading troops, a cortege, the presence of dignitaries and a lying in state. It is the latter which sets it apart. Other funerals may have many of the same features but do not include lying in state in the Capitol rotunda, the White House or at some other government building.

All plans, either basic or specific, are subject to change at the request of the individual or his family.

Changes have been requested by several former presidents and military officers—reportedly including former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower, Harry S. Truman and Herbert Hoover and Gen. Omar Bradley. MacArthur made changes when he looked over the plan for him.

Pentagon sources said Friday that the six-day interval between MacArthur's death and his entombment today did not result from any request by MacArthur for such a time interval. Instead, it said, the six-day interval was the result of the place and time of death and the adaptation of thse circumstances to the funeral procedure approved by MacArthur.

One important factor was that MacArthur died in Walter Reed Army Medical Center here after being brought from his New York home. The death occurred on Sunday. MacArthur had requested the arrangements for preparation of his body at New York and the first of the ceremonies there. This added at least one and probably two or more days to the time required for the full plan, which otherwise might have been over an interval of perhaps four days, it was explained.

The Army, which by tradition handles arrangements for all military or state funerals at Arlington National Cemetery, also often is responsible for general arrangements where burials of prominent persons take place elsewhere.

The basic plans are detailed.

Each is patterned to the position or rank of a Person. Plans for the funeral of anyone from statesman to private soldier are at hand.

IN ASIA, AFRICA

Briton Suggests Red Policy Switch

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minminister Sir Alec Douglas-Home suggested Friday that Soviet Premier Khrushchev may be revising his grand strategy of subversion throughout Asia and Africa.

Sir Alec said the Soviet premier is "beginning to see the danger to all countries" of Communist subersion in those two needy continents.

Addressing a luncheon organized by Commonwealth American and other foreign correspondents, with diplomats of many nations present, the prime minister explained:

"The only result of subverversion can be the improverishment of those continents which will inevitably react on the developed countries."

This improverishment, he argued, would allow Red China to exploit the world's racial divisions. The East-West power struggle would be replaced by a North-South duel. The North would consist of the richer, white nations and the South of the poorer, nonwhite peoples.

"It would be the worst division mankind has ever faced in its history," Sir Alec declared with feeling.

Already, he went on, the Soviets in feuding with the Red Chinese have accused Mao Tze-tung's ultrarevolutionaries of making the most of the fact that they are not white.

Two great debates now are raging in East and West, he added, and they provide their own pointers to the future pattern of events.

"In the East, a great debate is raging in the Communist world as to whether communism is a matter of military, bloody revolution, or in fact a competition in goulash. China is in the early stages of a Communist revolution and it will no doubt be some time before the world will be safe from what Mao Tze-tung has called gunbarrell politics which he favors."

And in the West: "The United States is trading its wheat with Russia and seems willing to help its Communist neighbors in their difficulties. The United States is debating whether such trade can become the instrument with which to break down differences with the Soviet Union."

He spoke as Khrushchev headed home to Moscow after a 10-day visit to Hungary to tackle a new stage in his power struggle with the Communist Chinese.

Some decision may be reached next week when international Communist leaders assemble in Moscow to help the Soviet premier celebrate his 70th birthday. This meeting almost certainly will include top-level talks on the Chinese issue.

In his address, Sir Alec called on Khrushchev to join the West in a common assault on poverty.

"If only those who have capital and resources to spare will come together in a common effort to assist developing countries, then we can clearly look forward to a period of peace and development in the world," he said.

He had this advice for Peking:

"I think the policy of peaceful rivalry is now gaining ground. Khrushchev has recognized — and I think one after another of the Communist leaders and others are going to realize it—that political ideology can no longer be allowed to isolate a nation from economic race unless they are prepared for a huge intake of the skills of the capitalistic world."

Army Grants Contracts For AA Missiles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army awarded more than $13 million in contracts Friday for production of a long - delayed antiaircraft guided missile expected to boost morale of front line troops, including the Marines.

For the first time, the Army said, fighting men who feel out the enemy without benefit of artillery or tank support will have with them a weapon with which to shoot down low flying strafing planes.

The Army indicated the missile would seek out its prey if fired anywhere near the target.

The missile, known as the "Redeye," is three years behind schedule. But Army and Marine experts said the "bugs" are now out of it. The contracts were expected to provide the first weapons in the field within a year or two.

Only 6 feet long and 3 inches in diameter, the Redeye somewhat resembles the World War II bazooka which provd effective against enemy tanks.

Its warhead, however, has a highly sophisticated, heat-seeking guidance system which is like the one in the Air Force's "Falcon" antiaircraft missile and the smallest of that kind yet developed.

The Army said the Redeye, weighing less than 30 pounds including its expendable launcher, can knock any known plane out of the sky. It was designed especially for use against fast-flying jets.

The course of training for use of the Redeye, to be set up at Fort Bliss, Tex. is only two weeks. The Army said soldiers have successfully fired the test model against low - flying drones after only a few hours of instructions.

Solons Skeptical Of Army's Plan To Use Game As Lie Detector

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional subcommittee suggested Friday that the Army may be considering a "does she or doesn't she?" parlor game toy for use as a lie detector in South Viet Nam.

There was no direct denial from Army witnesses who said their report on the situation is classified "secret."

But members of the House Government Information subcommittee and witnesses from the Army agreed that the instrument, if used, would be worthless.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., called it "nonsensical."

Maj. Gen. Ralph J. Butchers, the Army's provost marshal general, said about the report of the Army's plans: "If that's true, I can't understand it."

Benny L. Kass, subcommittee counsel, introduced the subject by holding up a small, battery-operated instrument and asking Butchers if he ever had seen one like it.

Butchers, smiling, replied that he had, and produced a package marked, "Transistor Lie Detector—Does She or Doesn't She?"

The instrument inside the package was just like the one held up by Kass.

Butchers testified that he had bought it as a toy in Japan and had used it only "as a parlor gag." He said he had "no personal knowledge" that anyone in the Army ever had used it for official purposes.

Under questioning, he added that Army military police never contemplated using such a device. Asked about any contemplated use by intelligence and counterinsurgency forces, Butchers referred the subcommittee members to a classified letter from the office of Gen. Paul D. Harkins, the U.S. commander in South Viet Nam

Reuss then read into the record an Associated Press dispatch that quoted a U.S. official as saying the Army planned to use pocket-size lie detectors in questioning suspected Red Viet Cong agents.

An aide to the subcommittee told newsmen the subcommittee had confirmed the AP dispatch and that the pocket-size lie detector in question was the same as the one bought as a toy in Japan.

Butchers and other Army witnesses agreed that the device would not be of value in a lie detector examination.

"I would say you would get negligible results from this," Butchers testified.

The device measures electrical currents on the palm of the hand. Army witnesses said that a lie detector, to be of value, must also measure blood pressure and breathing.

But Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the subcommittee that is investigating the use of lie detectors in government, expressed his doubts about even a polygraph—an instrument that measures all three.

"There is no lie detector machine," Moss said. "The interpretation of that machine by a human being is the lie detector. The examiners making these tests have been making scientific analyses with the scantiest of training. This constitutes a dangerous invasion of the rights of individuals."

Judge's Name Drawn To Hear Sheriff's Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A judge was picked in a drawing Friday to hear a malfeasance case against outgoing Sheriff John G. (Jack) Fitzgerald of Jefferson Parish.

Judge L. Robert Rivarde, 84, of the 24th Judicial District was selected to sit on the case.

Fitzgerald faces malfeasance charges for the second time. He was indicted by the Jefferson Grand Jury for failure to close down gambling operations after violations were reported in New Orleans newspapers.

Police Arrest 27 Hattiesburg Voter Pickets

The leaders of the march said they sought to challenge a new state law making it illegal to picket public buildings if such action blocked passage on sidewalks and entrance to the building.

The arrests were made shortly after the group appeared in front of the Forrest County courthouse.

Among the marchers was a four-year-old Negro boy. The child and his mother were not taken into custody. Two other pickets who were minors were turned over to juvenile authorities.

The pickets were booked on charges of violating the law which carries a maximum penalty on conviction of $500 fine and six months in jail.

Civil Rights Voting

As far as voting privileges are concerned, the so-called civil rights bill now before congress is intended primarily to lead Negro citizens to believe they will gain some legal advantage they do not already have, which is scarcely true. In reality, the purpose of the bill is to win more Negro votes for the administration, not to give the Negroes greater voting rights.

Voting provisions are not needed because there are already 15 federal statutes on the books protecting the right to vote, in addition to all the state laws, none of which, in their wording at least, contravene this right. Under a 1957 law, the United States attorney general can bring a suit in the name of the United States to protect a person's voting privileges or rights.

While provisions having to do with voting are less alarming than some of the titles of the bill, they are unconstitutional, unneeded, discriminatory and ill-conceived for the purposes attributed to them by their proponents.

Article I, section 2 of the constitutional establishes the qualifications of those who vote for federal officers as those "requisite for electors (voters) of the most numerous branch of the state legislation," which generally is the state house of representatives.

Subsequent amendments to the constitution provided that these qualifications cannot be based on race, color or sex but did not alter the basic qualifications. One hundred and twenty-five years after the constitution was adopted, the same verbiage on qualifications to vote were repeated in the 17th amendment.

Thus, the states, when they fix qualifications of voters to elect the members of the state legislature automatically fix qualifications of voters for federal officers.

The constitution reserves to the states the power to regulate the "time, place and manner" of electing senators and representatives. Congress is given the power to change the time and manner but it is not given the power to fix or alter voter qualifications.

Proponents of the so-called civil rights bill seem intent on trying to alter the constitution without having it legally amended, which would require a two-thirds vote of both houses of congress and a three-fourths vote by the states. Despite the constitution, this bill would have congress fix voter qualifications, apparently counting on the supreme court to ignore provisions of the constitution, as it has done before. Those who claim the supreme court has the authority tc interpret the constitution can hardly call a reversal of the direct words of the constitution a mere "interpretation."

Many prominent citizens in this country hold that voting is a privilege and not a right. Under the concept of a democracy that opinion could be questioned.

Apparently, under the constitution, a state can impose a literacy standard requiring a high school or even a college education. So far as is known, no state has made such a rigid requirement, nor does it seem proper that any of them should. If qualifications limited voters to their narrowest possible limits, we might reach the stage at which only the so-called "elite" could vote and our democracy would become a little more than an oligarchy.

Any attempts by congress to substitute a sixth grade education for qualifications in all states is clearly unconstitutional. The power of a state to prescribe a literacy test includes the power to prescribe how it will be given. So long as state law does not provide different tests for different races, colors or sexes, congress has no constitutional power to interfere.

Aside from violating states' rights provisions of the constitution, congress' effort to fix a sixth grade education as a voting qualification seems a step in the direction of making higher education a qualification for voting. Generally, in a democracy, the right of a person to vote if he can cast his own ballot, is conceded. As we have previously stated, the question of whether voting in a democracy is a "privilege" or a "right" is one that is frequently debated.

By authorizing the civil rights commission to select the areas in which voting statistics are to be compiled, the authors of the bill hope ultimately to deprive the south of its fair share of representation in congress. This is discrimination at its worst in what purports to be an "anti-discrimination" bill.

Proposed voting provisions would not help members of the minority groups to vote if they are illegally denied that privilege. Under present law, a person must go into court to protect or enforce his right to vote if it is denied. If the bill were passed, a person illegally denied the right to vote would still have to go into court for his remedy.

Federal control over all elections, both federal and state, is the real purpose of the proponents of the so-called civil rights bill. They seek to circumvent the constitution of the United States, which guarantees that states shall control their own elections.

Since the north and east have almost always tried to use the south as a whipping boy, it is not difficult to understand why some in the south sought secession prior to the Civil War.

Our Gain Or Panama's?

Negotiations can sometimes be ridiculous. If a person were to call you up and say he would like to negotiate with you on the matter of giving him free use of your automobile half of the time, with the provision that you also supply all the gasoline free of charge, you might, if you are an ordinary person, forget to be diplomatic about it. You might just tell him to go jump in the lake. What would there to be gained by negotiation?

That is the way it is with Panama and the United States in regard to the Panama Canal Zone. The United States acquired legal possession of the Panama Canal Zone, in "perpetuity," with provisions being made as to the operation of the shipping locks. Now Panama wants us to give the zone back and to allow the Panamanians to operate it but wants the United States to continue to foot the bill. Panama already gets most of its sustenance out of the United States operation of shipping through the zone but it wants to handle the operation itself, without putting out any money.

How much sheer nerve can anyone have?

The long-negotiated agreement to discuss with the Republic of Panama its differences with the United States has been reached. At first Panama demanded as a starting basis that the United States agree to give away something. We did not do that, so our diplomats, who are used to giving about half of what anybody asks, are congratulating themselves on a moral victory.

President Johnson carefully noted that the meetings will be held "without limitations or preconditions of any kind."

Presumably, that means the United States has not made any prior promises as to settlements or even the topics to be discussed.

Before the Panamanian rioting, communist - inspired and politically motivated, the United States was supporting Panama in a number of ways which went far beyond promised payments for use of the Panama Canal Zone. Without United States support, Panama would collapse economically.

Tax-Exempt Foundations Taking Things Easy Now

WHILE MILLIONS of taxpayers are unhappily wrestling with income returns which must be filed by next Wednesday, one exceedingly well-heeled group is quite relaxed about this annual ordeal.

Thousands of tax - exempt foundations with billions in assets and hundreds of millions in income are under no official pressure to submit reports.

Under the law they must do so. The penalties for disregarding this requirement are the same for both individual taxpayers and foundations — fines up to $10,000 and jail terms.

The big difference is the way the Revenue Service treats the taxpayer and the multi-billion dollar foundations who pay no taxes.

The reason is simple:

The Revenue Service now has every taxpayer carefully numbered and tabulated. Giant computers maintain a minute record on whether returns are filed.

BUT THERE ARE no such tabulations on and accounting of foundation returns — for the extraordinary reason that the Revenue Service does not know how many of these tax-exempt organizations there are.

The IRS has no idea whether there are 10,000, 100,000 or more.

The mighty tax-collecting agency of the U.S. government is literally in the dark on even the approximate number of tax-exempt foundations — despite the fact that under the law every one of them must be approved by the IRS to gain tax exemption.

In other words, although the IRS creats these tax-exempt organizations, it's at a loss as to how many actually exist.

This astonishnig situation is not new. Congressional investigators have been trying to get at the bottom of this bureaucratic mystery for years — with no discernbile results.

INPENETRABLE SECRET— In 1949, the Senate Commerce Committee, after an investigation of the "Textron trusts," reported being unable to get any concrete figures on tax-exempt foundations. In its findings, the committee declared:

"Nobody knows precisely how many such trusts exist. The committee staff engaged in research to obtain such information . . . was surprised to learn the scarcity of information available to the public or to the Congress. It is understood that there are many thousands of such trusts operating throughout the country, yet even the Treasury Department (IRS) does not know the number of identity of the trusts and is ignorant of their financial maneuverings."

Six years later a House committee, headed by the late Representative B. Carroll Reece, R.-Tenn., came to the same empty-handed conclusions. Its report complained sharply of being unable to obtain accurate information on the number of foundations, their assets, income, expenditures and other essential data.

Now ten years later, Representative Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee, is caustically making the same charge.

THE VETERAN anti-monopoly crusader, who has been investigating tax-exempt foundations for several years, in a report blasts the Treasury Department on the ground that it has "Shown no improvement in the matter of statistical data on foundations."

As a graphic illustration of this, Patman cites contradictory statements made by Revenue Commissioner Mortimer Caplin, as follows:

"At one point, Commissioner Caplin advised us there were 12,295 tax-exempt organizations filing Tax Return Form 990-A during 1952, and 45,124 such organizations filing Form 990-A during the year 1960. Additionally, Commissioner Caplin submitted the following figures with respect to the number of new 'private' foundations that were granted exemption during each of the years 1954 through 1960:

Year:	Total
1954	1,667
1955	2,249
1956	2.257
1957	2,679
1958	2,774
1959	2,346
1960	2,200
Total	16,172

"BUT, ON MAY 16, 1963, Commissioner Caplin made a speech in Cleveland in which he said, that there were 'roughly 15,000 actual foundations.' Now, if we take the 1948 estimate of the Treasury Department — 10,000 foundations — and add the 16,172 new foundations which, according to Commissioner Caplin, were granted tax exemption during the years 1954 through 1960, we come up with a total of 26,172 foundations, not counting the unknown number of foundations that were granted exemption during the years 1949 through 1962.

"Our findings of December 31, 1962 indicate that there may be countless foundations in operation without the knowledge of the Treasury. In my view an estimate of 100,000 tax-exempt foundations may be far more accurate than 45,000."

The 546 tax-exempt foundations under investigation by Patman and on which he has issued a series of exhaustive reports, have assets of over $10 billion and annual incomes totaling more than $300 million. Of the 546 foundations, 433 had not been audited by the Internal Revenue Service during the 10-year period 1953-53.

The 433 foundations have assets of some $8.6 billion. The assets of the largest range from $131.2 million to $2.1 billion, with a combined value of $4.6 billion. Not one of these colossi had been examined by the Revenue Service.

The influential Senate Finance Committee, headed by Senator Harry Byrd, D-Va., which writes the tax laws, has decided something should be done about "abuses by tax-exempt foundations."

The committee voted unanimously to direct the Treasury to "make a study of possible abuses of private foundations under the Internal Revenue laws and report back to the committee by the end of this year."

Doctor Discusses Various Subjects

DEAR DR. STEINCROHN: Isn't it true that for the past few months you have been writing mostly about the heart? How about discussing some other things people might be interested in? — Mrs. H.

Comment: As the man said, name your poison. Where does your special interest lie, Mrs. N.? Perhaps you happened to miss the column which discussed it.

I have been reviewing some of the things I have discussed here. You will agree, I think, that cardiac problems are not the only considerations. Let's just take three (there are many more) in each category from A to Z:

A. asthma, aortic disease, appendicitis
B. bronchitis, births, bunions
C. colds, cortisone, cancer
D. dentures, dermatitis, drafts
E. eyestrain, exercise, electrocardiograms
F. feet, fear, fungus
G. gout, gonads (sex glands), gas pains
H. heart, halitosis, headaches
I. Ileitis, injections (shots!) insomnia
J. jets (planes), jowls, jelly
K. keloid, Kahn test, kidneys
L. liquor, leprosy, laughter

M. MOONFACE, mid-brain, meals
N. naps, nocturia, nursery
O. ophthalmologist, oophoritis (inflammation of ovary), obesity
P. pruritis, pain, pelvic repair
Q. quacks, quartz lamp, quietude
R. rabid, resentment, restorative
S. sleep, sanity, sobriety
T. tension, TV, tenosynovitis (inflamed tendon)
U. uveitis (inflammation within the eye), ulcer, unconsciousness
V. voice, vitamins, venom
W. water, wine, weariness
X. xanthoma, X rays X (Mr., Mrs. and Miss)
Y. yaws, yellow jaundice, yellow fever.
Z. Zoster, zinc oxide, zoonoses (diseases of animals which can be transmitted to man, i. e., rabies, bovine, tuberculosis, etc.)

You can't please everybody. Now I expect to hear from readers who think I haven't written enough about the heart; or about cancer, high blood pressure, diabetes and other major diseases.

IF YOU WILL BE patient and do your homework (read this column), you will find at long last I get around to what's close to your heart, whether or not it happens to be heart disease.

If you'd like the discussion sooner, the best way is to put your request in the mail. Most of my columns are based upon the problems of its readers.

From A to Z, singly or many times over, you will find here the many medical problems that bedevil the average human being. May yours be the little ones.

Mr. O.: You are correct. The suicide rate is is high in Sweden and Denmark, low in Norway.

Mrs. W.: Yes and No. Mostly NO.

Mr. Y.: It is true that coronary disease is not a great problem to women until they have entered and passed the menopause.

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "How To Stop Killing Yourself," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, in care of this newspaper.

Liberals Hit By Wisconsin Vote

THE TREMENDOUS vote in the Presidential primary for Governor George Wallace of Alabama puts Wisconsin on the map and the strategists of both parties on the spot. In the past, Wisconsin has been the breaker of would-be Presidential hearts — and it may be that it is once more writing finis to a political chapter.

However the pundits may interpret the Wisconsin vote, it was a blow to the liberal wings of both parties. President Johnson received a startling setback. And the Republicans who cleave to the politics of a Henry Cabot Lodge or a William Scranton are faced with a manifestation of states rights conservatism in a state which claims a traditional progressivism.

I do not mention Governor Nelson Rockefeller because the professional politicians in the Republican Party have already written him off. His major service to liberal Republicanism has been to undercut Senator Goldwater, but this hardly makes him a serious contender.

Another victim of the Wallace vote is the "civil rights" movement on Capitol Hill. It is no secret that mail to Northern Senators has been running heavily against the current legislation. But the Wisconsin vote shows that many more people in the North are upset by this new attempt at Federal usurpation of local and state power than the seers on the Hill care to admit.

AS AN ALL-OUT exponent of the measure — and as the man running by proxy in Wisconsin — President Johnson has been given a dramatic demonstration that the statistics of his popularity garnered by Dr. George Gallup hardly reflect the popular mood. The floor leaders in the Senate will have much explaining to do to Senators coming up for re-election this year. And in the councils of the Republican Party, there will be—and already is—much headshaking.

To be more explicit:

It has been an article of faith among those opposing the Presidential candidacy of Senator Barry Goldwater that his position on civil rights — namely, that such matters are of state concern and cannot be imposed by a monolithic Federal government — would damage him seriously in the North. All surveys made by competent reporters in the Midwest, the Northeast, and the Pacific States indicated a considerable degree of unease among voters as to the wisdom of the pending civil rights legislation — and considerable concern that the so-called Negro Revolution was getting out of hand.

Voters in Boston, in Berkley, and in Seattle — to name but three test areas — made it very clear that they did not want the government interfering in the sale of private homes, in the administration of school districts, or in the conduct of private businesses. Nevertheless, these storm warnings were ignored.

THE EASTERN kingmakers of the Republican Party continued to pour money and propaganda into the candidacy of Henry Cabot Lodge — hoping to use him as the Trojan Horse from which at the San Francisco convention would emerge a nominated Richard Nixon. Mr. Lodge and Mr. Nixon are both committed strongly to the liberal position on civil rights — although Mr. Nixon, being more astute than some of his sponsors, has begun to edge away from it.

Wisconsin has shown that a combination of anti-Federalism and pro-conservatism can bring out great numbers of voters, despite the efforts of the Wisconsin Democratic machine to keep the party faithful to President Johnson and to neo-Abolitionism. (What the neo-Abolitionists wish to abolish is the system of Federal and state checks and balances)

It is likely that Governor Wallace will show far more strength in other primaries he has entered than any of the strategists at the White House or the Democratic National Committee expected. Now that he is being taken seriously, efforts to stop him will also increase and this will undoubtedly work against another showing as dramatic as last Tuesday's.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

Pros In Politics Don't Like Lodge

HENRY CABOT LODGE is much in the news now, having recently been discovered by Dr. Gallup and Mr. Harris as the favorite Republican of the majority of Republicans in the United States, a truly remarkable discovery. An associate of mine who is a long-time pol and knows Republicans from coast to coast, put it to me this way. "Most of the Republicans I know are Goldwater men. But I know quite a few Rockefeller Republicans, some Scranton Republicans, a great many Nixon Republicans. But I don't know one, not a single, Lodge Republican. Where are they, and what do they do, other than state their preferences to visiting pollsters?"

I answered that he could certainly find some of them in New Hampshire, but he shot back that this is not so obvious. In New Hampshire, the people who voted for Lodge were voting, in effect, against Goldwater and Rockefeller. But the present polls are saying something altogether different: that the majority of the Republicans prefer Lodge to any candidate at all.

The primary in Oregon will of course confirm whether Lodge is purely a regional candidate. I have never thought he was, and cherish the devastation of that myth by Murray Kempton after the New Hampshire primaries ("Of all the spectacles an inflamed mind can conceive, the only one I would reject out of hand would be the image of Henry Cabot Lodge looking upon the assembled voters of New Hampshire, and holding out his arms and crying, Mummy! . . . Daddy! . . . ."). No, Lodge is not thought of merely as a New Englander (though he is quintessentially an Easterner); he is widely known and, whatever his hold on the 42 percent, widely unpopular with the professional political community.

Several reasons have been advanced for this. It was apparently Lodge, who, masterminding the fight for Eisenhower in 1952, decided it would be convenient to call Robert Taft a thief, a venture in inspired audacity, rather like denouncing Pope Puis XII as a playboy. But it worked; and the Taft pros are still sore. The other argument constantly being used against Lodge by the professionals is that he flatly refuses to give more than a single speech a day. For this act of fortitude. I honor him deeply, and have no doubt that the firendly treatment given him by the press is directly the result of not having to hear him speak more often than once a day. Once a day is quite enough. And the pros should be reminded that he spoke no times a day when he won in New Hampshire, contesting against two Stakhanovite campaigners.

I recognize that it is unfashionable to bring the matter up, but it seems to me that one reason for opposing Mr. Lodge is his political views. It is a long time ago — 12 — years since he sat in the Senate, and hence has no voting record freshly registered. For 8 years he was with the United Nations, there to do Mr. Eisenhower's will, an utterly untaxing assignment. During the brief few months of private life after Nixon's defeat, he puttered about among the international set (he is for an Atlantic Union, along the lines suggested by Clarence Streit), and ended up back in South Vietnam, as lord high executioner of the Ngo government, and oh yes, the Ngo's. He steadfastly refuses to leave South Vietnam to take part in the political race, on the grounds of the emergency in South Vietnam. No doubt, there are Vietnamese who feel that if Lodge goes, so might the emergency, which after all came about the time Lodge arrived. But those are illogical thoughts, and we should suppress them.

WHAT ABOUT MR. Lodge's vast experience in international affairs? I cherish a scene I saw on television. Ambassador Lodge was pleading for the repatriation of the American pilots biennially shot down and illegally detained by the Soviet Union. He spoke passionately about the injustice of it all, and then pointed theatrically to the galleries at three weeping women, wives of the airmen imported to dramatize Lodge's speech. He swivelled about and levelled his finger at the stony-faced Soviet delegation, declaiming, "I ask you gentlemen, look at those bereaved ladies, and open your hearts!" I have no doubt that that has become one of the standing jokes in the chancelleries of Communism. (I can see the wag at Lubianka Prison: "I ask you, Warden, open up your heart. . .").

Mr. Lodge, in short, appears not to have learned a great deal about how to cope with the enemy — a subject on which his brother John, by the way, became an authority while serving as ambassdor to Spain. But then in the event he should suddenly find out, no doubt the 42 per cent would desert him.

Civil Rights Voting

As far as voting privileges are concerned, the so-called civil rights bill now before congress is intended primarily to lead Negro citizens to believe they will gain some legal advantage they do not already have, which is scarcely true. In reality, the purpose of the bill is to win more Negro votes for the administration, not to give the Negroes greater voting rights.

Voting provisions are not needed because there are already 15 federal statutes on the books protecting the right to vote, in addition to all the state laws, none of which, in their wording at least, contravene this right. Under a 1957 law, the United States attorney general can bring a suit in the name of the United States to protect a person's voting privileges or rights.

While provisions having to do with voting are less alarming than some of the titles of the bill, they are unconstitutional, unneeded, discriminatory and ill-conceived for the purposes attributed to them by their proponents.

Article I, section 2 of the constitutional establishes the qualifications of those who vote for federal officers as those "requisite for electors (voters) of the most numerous branch of the state legislation," which generally is the state house of representatives.

Subsequent amendments to the constitution provided that these qualifications cannot be based on race, color or sex but did not alter the basic qualifications. One hundred and twently-five years after the constitution was adopted, the same verbiage on qualifications to vote were repeated in the 17th amendment.

Thus, the states, when they fix qualifications of voters to elect the members of the state legislature automatically fix qualifications of voters for federal officers.

The constitution reserves to the states the power to regulate the "time, place and manner" of electing senators and representatives. Congress is given the power to change the time and manner but it is not given the power to fix or alter voter qualifications.

Proponents of the so-called civil rights bill seem intent on trying to alter the constitution without having it legally amended, which would require a two-thirds vote of both houses of congress and a three-fourths vote by the states. Despite the constitution, this bill would have congress fix voter qualifications, apparently counting on the supreme court to ignore provisions of the constitution, as it has done before. Those who claim the supreme court has the authority tc interpret the constitution can hardly call a reversal of the direct words of the constitution a mere "interpretation."

"BUT, ON MAY 16, 1963, Commissioner Caplin made a speech in Cleveland in which he said, that there were 'roughly 15,000 actual foundations.' Now, if we take the 1948 estimate of the Treasury Department — 10,000 foundations — and add the 16,172 new foundations which, according to Commissioner Caplin, were granted tax exemption during the years 1954 through 1960, we come up with a total of 26,172 foundations, not counting the unknown number of foundations that were granted exemption during the years 1949 through 1962.

"Our findings of December 31, 1962 indicate that there may be countless foundations in operation without the knowledge of the Treasury. In my view an estimate of 100,000 tax-exempt foundations may be far more accurate than 45,000."

The 546 tax-exempt foundations under investigation by Patman and on which he has issued a series of exhaustive reports, have assets of over $10 billion and annual incomes totaling more than $300 million. Of the 546 foundations, 433 had not been audited by the Internal Revenue Service during the 10-year period 1953-53.

The 433 foundations have assets of some $8.6 billion. The assets of the largest range from $131.2 million to $2.1 billion, with a combined value of $4.6 billion. Not one of these colossi had been examined by the Revenue Service.

The influential Senate Finance Committee, headed by Senator Harry Byrd, D-Va., which writes the tax laws, has decided something should be done about "abuses by tax-exempt foundations."

The committee voted unanimously to direct the Treasury to "make a study of possible abuses of private foundations under the Internal Revenue laws and report back to the committee by the end of this year."

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Doctor Discusses Various Subjects

DEAR DR. STEINCROHN: Isn't it true that for the past few months you have been writing mostly about the heart? How about discussing some other things people might be interested in? — Mrs. H.

Comment: As the man said, name your poison. Where does your special interest lie, Mrs. N.? Perhaps you happened to miss the column which discussed it.

I have been reviewing some of the things I have discussed here. You will agree, I think, that cardiac problems are not the only considerations. Let's just take three (there are many more) in each category from A to Z:

A. asthma, aortic disease, appendicitis

B. bronchitis, births, bunions

C. colds, cortisone, cancer

D. dentures, dermatitis, drafts

E. eyestrain, exercise, electrocardiograms

F. feet, fear, fungus

G. gout, gonads (sex glands), gas pains

H. heart, halitosis, headaches

I. Ileitis, injections (shots!) insomnia

J. jets (planes), jowls, jelly

K. keloid, Kahn test, kidneys

L. liquor, leprosy, laughter

M. MOONFACE, mid-brain, meals

N. naps, nocturia, nursery

O. ophthalmologist, oophoritis (inflammation of ovary), obesity

P. pruritis, pain, pelvic repair

Q. quacks, quartz lamp, quietude

R. rabid, resentment, restorative

S. sleep, sanity, sobriety

T. tension, TV, tenosynovitis (inflamed tendon)

U. uveitis (inflammation within the eye), ulcer, unconsciousness

V. voice, vitamins, venom

W. water, wine, weariness

X. xanthoma, X rays X (Mr., Mrs. and Miss)

Y. yaws, yellow jaundice, yellow fever.

Z. Zoster, zinc oxide, zoonoses (diseases of animals which can be transmitted to man, i. e., rabies, bovine, tuberculosis, etc.)

You can't please everybody. Now I expect to hear from readers who think I haven't written enough about the heart; or about cancer, high blood pressure, diabetes and other major diseases.

IF YOU WILL BE patient and do your homework (read this column), you will find at long last I get around to what's close to your heart, whether or not it happens to be heart disease.

If you'd like the discussion sooner, the best way is to put your request in the mail. Most of my columns are based upon the problems of its readers.

From A to Z, singly or many times over, you will find here the many medical problems that bedevil the average human being. May yours be the little ones.

Mr. O.: You are correct. The suicide rate is is high in Sweden and Denmark, low in Norway.

Mrs. W.: Yes and No. Mostly NO.

Mr. Y.: It is true that coronary disease is not a great problem to women until they have entered and passed the menopause.

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "How To Stop Killing Yourself," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, in care of this newspaper.

Liberals Hit By Wisconsin Vote

THE TREMENDOUS vote in the Presidential primary for Governor George Wallace of Alabama puts Wisconsin on the map and the strategists of both parties on the spot. In the past, Wisconsin has been the breaker of would-be Presidential hearts — and it may be that it is once more writing finis to a political chapter.

However the pundits may interpret the Wisconsin vote, it was a blow to the liberal wings of both parties. President Johnson received a startling setback. And the Republicans who cleave to the politics of a Henry Cabot Lodge or a William Scranton are faced with a manifestation of states rights conservatism in a state which claims a traditional progressivism.

I do not mention Governor Nelson Rockefeller because the professional politicians in the Republican Party have already written him off. His major service to liberal Republicanism has been to undercut Senator Goldwater, but this hardly makes him a serious contender.

Another victim of the Wallace vote is the "civil rights" movement on Capitol Hill. It is no secret that mail to Northern Senators has been running heavily against the current legislation. But the Wisconsin vote shows that many more people in the North are upset by this new attempt at Federal usurpation of local and state power than the seers on the Hill care to admit.

AS AN ALL-OUT exponent of the measure — and as the man running by proxy in Wisconsin — President Johnson has been given a dramatic demonstration that the statistics of his popularity garnered by Dr. George Gallup hardly reflect the popular mood. The floor leaders in the Senate will have much explaining to do to Senators coming up for re-election this year. And in the councils of the Republican Party, there will be—and already is—much headshaking.

To be more explicit:

It has been an article of faith among those opposing the Presidential candidacy of Senator Barry Goldwater that his position on civil rights — namely, that such matters are of state concern and cannot be imposed by a monolithic Federal government — would damage him seriously in the North. All surveys made by competent reporters in the Midwest, the Northeast, and the Pacific States indicated a considerable degree of unease among voters as to the wisdom of the pending civil rights legislation — and considerable concern that the so-called Negro Revolution was getting out of hand.

Voters in Boston, in Berkley, and in Seattle — to name but three test areas — made it very clear that they did not want the government interfering in the sale of private homes, in the administration of school districts, or in the conduct of private businesses. Nevertheless, these storm warnings were ignored.

THE EASTERN kingmakers of the Republican Party continued to pour money and propaganda into the candidacy of Henry Cabot Lodge — hoping to use him as the Trojan Horse from which at the San Francisco convention would emerge a nominated Richard Nixon. Mr. Lodge and Mr. Nixon are both committed strongly to the liberal position on civil rights — although Mr. Nixon, being more astute than some of his sponsors, has begun to edge away from it.

Wisconsin has shown that a combination of anti-Federalism and pro-conservatism can bring out great numbers of voters, despite the efforts of the Wisconsin Democratic machine to keep the party faithful to President Johnson and to neo-Abolitionism. (What the neo-Abolitionists wish to abolish is the system of Federal and state checks and balances)

It is likely that Governor Wallace will show far more strength in other primaries he has entered than any of the strategists at the White House or the Democratic National Committee expected. Now that he is being taken seriously, efforts to stop him will also increase and this will undoubtedly work against another showing as dramatic as last Tuesday's.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

Pros In Politics Don't Like Lodge

HENRY CABOT LODGE is much in the news now, having recently been discovered by Dr. Gallup and Mr. Harris as the favorite Republican of the majority of Republicans in the United States, a truly remarkable discovery. An associate of mine who is a long-time pol and knows Republicans from coast to coast, put it to me this way. "Most of the Republicans I know are Goldwater men. But I know quite a few Rockefeller Republicans, some Scranton Republicans, a great many Nixon Republicans. But I don't know one, not a single, Lodge Republican. Where are they, and what do they do, other than state their preferences to visiting pollsters?"

I answered that he could certainly find some of them in New Hampshire, but he shot back that this is not so obvious. In New Hampshire, the people who voted for Lodge were voting, in effect, against Goldwater and Rockefeller. But the present polls are saying something altogether different: that the majority of the Republicans prefer Lodge to any candidate at all.

The primary in Oregon will of course confirm whether Lodge is purely a regional candidate. I have never thought he was, and cherish the devastation of that myth by Murray Kempton after the New Hampshire primaries ("Of all the spectacles an inflamed mind can conceive, the only one I would reject out of hand would be the image of Henry Cabot Lodge looking upon the assembled voters of New Hampshire, and holding out his arms and crying, Mummy! . . . Daddy! . . . ."). No, Lodge is not thought of merely as a New Englander (though he is quintessentially an Easterner); he is widely known and, whatever his hold on the 42 percent, widely unpopular with the professional political community.

Several reasons have been advanced for this. It was apparently Lodge, who, masterminding the fight for Eisenhower in 1952, decided it would be convenient to call Robert Taft a thief, a venture in inspired audacity, rather like denouncing Pope Puis XII as a playboy. But it worked; and the Taft pros are still sore. The other argument constantly being used against Lodge by the professionals is that he flatly refuses to give more than a single speech a day. For this act of fortitude. I honor him deeply, and have no doubt that the firendly treatment given him by the press is directly the result of not having to hear him speak more often than once a day. Once a day is quite enough. And the pros should be reminded that he spoke no times a day when he won in New Hampshire, contesting against two Stakhanovite campaigners.

I recognize that it is unfashionable to bring the matter up, but it seems to me that one reason for opposing Mr. Lodge is his political views. It is a long time ago — 12 — years since he sat in the Senate, and hence has no voting record freshly registered. For 8 years he was with the United Nations, there to do Mr. Eisenhower's will, an utterly untaxing assignment. During the brief few months of private life after Nixon's defeat, he puttered about among the international set (he is for an Atlantic Union, along the lines suggested by Clarence Streit), and ended up back in South Vietnam, as lord high executioner of the Ngo government, and oh yes, the Ngo's. He steadfastly refuses to leave South Vietnam to take part in the political race, on the grounds of the emergency in South Vietnam. No doubt, there are Vietnamese who feel that if Lodge goes, so might the emergency, which after all came about the time Lodge arrived. But those are illogical thoughts, and we should suppress them.

WHAT ABOUT MR. Lodge's vast experience in international affairs? I cherish a scene I saw on television. Ambassador Lodge was pleading for the repatriation of the American pilots biennially shot down and illegally detained by the Soviet Union. He spoke passionately about the injustice of it all, and then pointed theatrically to the galleries at three weeping women, wives of the airmen imported to dramatize Lodge's speech. He swivelled about and levelled his finger at the stony-faced Soviet delegation, declaiming, "I ask you gentlemen, look at those bereaved ladies, and open your hearts!" I have no doubt that that has become one of the standing jokes in the chancelleries of Communism. (I can see the wag at Lubianka Prison: "I ask you, Warden, open up your heart. . .").

Mr. Lodge, in short, appears not to have learned a great deal about how to cope with the enemy — a subject on which his brother John, by the way, became an authority while serving as ambassdor to Spain. But then in the event he should suddenly find out, no doubt the 42 per cent would desert him.

pair are in New Orleans visiting the haunts of youth and old friends. Both are natives of the New Orleans area but have lived in Monroe for many years of their married life.

New Experience

Five-year-old Phillip Hammett, son of Fire Department Capt. and Mrs. E. F. Hammett of Monroe, was manfully, but hesitantly preparing to register at the Minnie Ruffin pre - school round-up, when Mrs. Phillip Snider asked him if he thought he was going to like school.

Phillips, who will be six in September, paused and pondered. Then, drawing upon the experiences of his twelve-year-old brother, Lyrone, carefully said, "Well, I don't know. With all that home work and stuff. Wow!"

Annual State Public Health Convention Ends

The convention voted to meet next year in April at New Orleans during the time the Southern Branch of the American Public Health Association will also be meeting there for convention.

Friday's session of the meet here ended after sectional meetings were held throughout the morning. The convention elected new officers and new section leaders plus presenting six public health awards. The Ouachita Parish Health Unit was host to the convention at which 280 persons registered.

Social Science Club Here To Tour Vicksburg

A visit on the Mississippi River Showboat "Sprague" will highlight the trip to historical Vicksburg which is being made today by the Social Science Club at Northeast Louisiana State College.

While aboard the ship, the group will see a melodrama, "Gold in the Hills."

Club members also will tour the Civil War battlefield on the rolling hills around the river city.

The trip is designed to acquaint those seeking membership with the organization's functions, President Edgar Reed of West Monroe said.

Eligibility for club affiliation requires a 2.0 grade average or better and six semester hours in history, economics, sociology, government or geography.

reiterated an earlier statement that the President has drawn no new legislation to head off a strike.

Reedy disclosed the daily meetings will continue "for however many days are necessary", they will be held at the White House or the executive office next door — so Johnson can keep an eye on them — there will be no transcript kept and the negotiators will release no news of their talks.

Only strenuous last-ditch efforts Thursday night by Johnson brought the 15-day postponement of walkout which had been scheduled for 12:01 a.m., local time.

Only 90 minutes before the deadline, a White House announcement disclosed the postponement, based on these points:

—Revocation by the railroads of their orders to start posting job-eliminating new work rules at 12:01, a step which would have brought a walkout by the unions.

Because of the lateness of this decision, there was some interruption of service on lines.

However, these difficulties were largely cleared up in the New York area and in Illinois Central territory by midmorning.

The Illinois Central reported its morning commuter service into Chicago was disrupted by reluctance of some firemen to man the trains. But this had cleared up by noon as 7,500 striking train crew employes returned to jobs all along the 6,500 miles of the road's lines.

White House press secretary George Reedy emphasized that Johnson has no personal formula or suggestions for settlement of complicated issues.

"We're trying to bring the people together around the table so they can resolve the differences themselves," Reedy said.

Reedy said also that the President has drafted no new legislation—such as was voted by Congress last August — to head off a strike.

Should the current negotiations fail, Johnson apparently would have only two choices—let the strike go on or ask Congress to block it by new legislation.

From Capitol Hill came fresh warning against letting the issue come back to Congress. Echoing expressions heard earlier from several senators and representatives, Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said "it would be the worst thing in the world to have this thing referred to Congress as it was last time."

But the Senate majority leader took note of a possible fresh impasse, saying the issue is one that Congress "does not want, will not seek, but may have to face up to."

The five - man federal team which Johnson is counting on to prevent a strike showdown is headed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz. Working with him are an assistant secretary, James Reynolds; Chairman Francis A. O'Neill of the Federal Mediation Service; and two specially summoned private mediators, Theodore Kheel, a New York attorney; and George Taylor, a Philadelphia economist.

Wages, overtime, paid holidays, night differentials and away-from-home expenses are the money issues at stake. Even more troublesome are jobs involved in work rules covering road and yard work, manning of self-propelled vehicles and interdivisional runs.

Under binding arbitration provided by the law passed last summer, the carriers have the right to eliminate more than 30,000 firemen's jobs but have not done so pending a Supreme Court ruling on a union appeal.

Senate Is Told Of Plaquemine Case By Long

WASHINGTON (Special) — Senator Russell B. Long presented the case of the City of Plaquemine, Louisiana, to the United States Senate Friday.

Since opponents of the civil rights bill were being denied an opportunity to present evidence before the appropriate senate committee, he presented this and other evidence for consideration by senators as he would have done if he could have brought the proper witnesses to the senate judiciary committee.

In presenting the carefully documented story, Senator Long said "I urge every senator who is not on the floor today to read the record tomorrow. The story of Plaquemine may be repeated in his own state at any time. The story of Plaquemine is a chronicle which sets the backdrop for government by fear. I urge every senator to read over and over again the opening statement in the Plaquemine story — a statement that threatened violence unless all of the demands of the organization were complied with. "In reading this account, I also recommend that each senator look about him and take careful recognition of the trend that has developed in recent months — the trend that indicates that the people of America feel that the invitation to lawlessness and mob violence has gone far enough and they are expecting their representative in congress to bring it to an abrupt halt."

Senator Long called attention to the trend against the civil rights bill by citing various recent incidents, including the Gallup poll "that shows a strong growth of interest in retaining unlimited debate in the senate, senseless picketing and rioting that is causing more and more people to write in opposition to the bill, and various test votes and referenda that indicate people throughout the nation are commencing to become aware of the dangers to the country that will result from a continuation of the present attemtps to achieve government by fear in this country."

pair are in New Orleans visiting the haunts of youth and old friends. Both are natives of the New Orleans area but have lived in Monroe for many years of their married life.

New Experience

Five-year-old Phillip Hammett, son of Fire Department Capt. and Mrs. E. F. Hammett of Monroe, was manfully, but hesitantly preparing to register at the Minnie Ruffin pre-school round-up, when Mrs. Phillip Snider asked him if he thought he was going to like school.

Phillips, who will be six in September, paused and pondered. Then, drawing upon the experiences of his twelve-year-old brother, Lyrone, carefully said, "Well, I don't know. With all that home work and stuff. Wow!"

Annual State Public Health Convention Ends

The convention voted to meet next year in April at New Orleans during the time the Southern Branch of the American Public Health Association will also be meeting there for convention.

Friday's session of the meet here ended after sectional meetings were held throughout the morning. The convention elected new officers and new section leaders plus presenting six public health awards. The Ouachita Parish Health Unit was host to the convention at which 280 persons registered.

Social Science Club Here To Tour Vicksburg

A visit on the Mississippi River Showboat "Sprague" will highlight the trip to historical Vicksburg which is being made today by the Social Science Club at Northeast Louisiana State College.

While aboard the ship, the group will see a melodrama, "Gold in the Hills."

Club members also will tour the Civil War battlefield on the rolling hills around the river city.

The trip is designed to acquaint those seeking membership with the organization's functions, President Edgar Reed of West Monroe said.

Eligibility for club affiliation requires a 2.0 grade average or better and six semester hours in history, economics, sociology, government or geography.

reiterated an earlier statement that the President has drawn no new legislation to head off a strike.

Reedy disclosed the daily meetings will continue "for however many days are necessary", they will be held at the White House or the executive office next door — so Johnson can keep an eye on them — there will be no transcript kept and the negotiators will release no news of their talks.

Only strenuous last-ditch efforts Thursday night by Johnson brought the 15-day postponement of walkout which had been scheduled for 12:01 a.m., local time.

Only 90 minutes before the deadline, a White House announcement disclosed the postponement, based on these points:

—Revocation by the railroads of their orders to start posting job-eliminating new work rules at 12:01, a step which would have brought a walkout by the unions.

Because of the lateness of this decision, there was some interruption of service on lines.

However, these difficulties were largely cleared up in the New York area and in Illinois Central territory by midmorning.

The Illinois Central reported its morning commuter service into Chicago was disrupted by reluctance of some firemen to man the trains. But this had cleared up by noon as 7,500 striking train crew employes returned to jobs all along the 6,500 miles of the road's lines.

White House press secretary George Reedy emphasized that Johnson has no personal formula or suggestions for settlement of complicated issues.

"We're trying to bring the people together around the table so they can resolve the differences themselves," Reedy said.

Reedy said also that the President has drafted no new legislation—such as was voted by Congress last August — to head off a strike.

Should the current negotiations fail, Johnson apparently would have only two choices—let the strike go on or ask Congress to block it by new legislation.

From Capitol Hill came fresh warning against letting the issue come back to Congress. Echoing expressions heard earlier from several senators and representatives, Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said "it would be the worst thing in the world to have this thing referred to Congress as it was last time."

But the Senate majority leader took note of a possible fresh impasse, saying the issue is one that Congress "does not want, will not seek, but may have to face up to."

The five - man federal team which Johnson is counting on to prevent a strike showdown is headed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz. Working with him are an assistant secretary, James Reynolds; Chairman Francis A. O'Neill of the Federal Mediation Service; and two specially summoned private mediators, Theodore Kheel, a New York attorney; and George Taylor, a Philadelphia economist.

Wages, overtime, paid holidays, night differentials and away-from-home expenses are the money issues at stake. Even more troublesome are jobs involved in work rules covering road and yard work, manning of self-propelled vehicles and interdivisional runs.

Under binding arbitration provided by the law passed last summer, the carriers have the right to eliminate more than 30,000 firemen's jobs but have not done so pending a Supreme Court ruling on a union appeal.

Senate Is Told Of Plaquemine Case By Long

WASHINGTON (Special) — Senator Russell B. Long presented the case of the City of Plaquemine, Louisiana, to the United States Senate Friday.

Since opponents of the civil rights bill were being denied an opportunity to present evidence before the appropriate senate committee, he presented this and other evidence for consideration by senators as he would have done if he could have brought the proper witnesses to the senate judiciary committee.

In presenting the carefully documented story, Senator Long said "I urge every senator who is not on the floor today to read the record tomorrow. The story of Plaquemine may be repeated in his own state at any time. The story of Plaquemine is a chronicle which sets the backdrop for government by fear. I urge every senator to read over and over again the opening statement in the Plaquemine story — a statement that threatened violence unless all of the demands of the organization were complied with. "In reading this account, I also recommend that each senator look about him and take careful recognition of the trend that has developed in recent months — the trend that indicates that the people of America feel that the invitation to lawlessness and mob violence has gone far enough and they are expecting their representative in congress to bring it to an abrupt halt."

Senator Long called attention to the trend against the civil rights bill by citing various recent incidents, including the Gallup poll "that shows a strong growth of interest in retaining unlimited debate in the senate, senseless picketing and rioting that is causing more and more people to write in opposition to the bill, and various test votes and referenda that indicate people throughout the nation are commencing to become aware of the dangers to the country that will result from a continuation of the present attemtps to achieve government by fear in this country."

GLOBE CIRCLING SOLOS

Flying Housewives Narrowing Mileage

By United Press International

The gap between America's two air-minded housewives narrowed Friday as they sought to become the first women ever to fly solo around the world.

Mrs. Joan Smith, 27, of Long Beach, Calif., landed her twin-engine Piper Apache at India's famed Dum Dum Airport. Her globe-circling competitor, Mrs. Jerrie Mock, 38, of Columbus, Ohio, was grounded at Manila for repairs but planned to resume her journey Saturday, leaving for Guam "at the crack of dawn."

Mrs. Smith, the wife of a Navy minesweeper commander, arrived at Dum Dum near Calcutta at 9:41 p.m. (11:11 a.m., EST) after a seven - hour flight from Ahmedabad, India. She told newsmen her radio was acting up and that it would have to be repaired before she could continue on. The blonde aviatrix said she would remain in Dum Dum until Sunday "to do some shopping and to buy an Indian sari and some good raw silk" while the radio is being repaired.

Mrs. Mock, who arrived in Manila Wednesday on a flight from Bangkok, faced the toughest part of her trip — long hops over the South Pacific.

The spare was sent to Manila by Mrs. Mock's husband. She spent Friday sightseeing in Manila with a Filipino couple, Mr. and Mrs. Voltaire Bernardino. Mrs. Bernardino is a classmate of Mrs. Mock's sister, Barbara.

Mrs. Smith's flight plans and her attempt to catch up with Mrs. Mock were complicated Friday when the Burmese government rejected her request for permission to land at Rangoon Airport. The government said she could overfly Burma but not land.

Mrs. Smith complained that she had remitted $55 to Rangoon for landing charges and had spent much more than that for cables to the Burmese government applying for landing rights.

The California flier said she was not in a race with Mrs. Mock. She said her route was 5,000 miles longer than Mrs. Mock's.

'You cannot consider this a race," Mrs. Smith said. She is following the route taken 27 years ago by Amelia Earhart, the Kansan who disappeared over the Pacific.

Mrs. Smith said she flies under her maiden name — Joan Merriam.

In Washington, officials of the National Aeronautics Association announced Friday that Mrs. Mock already has taken two "firsts" in her flight. They said there is no previous record of a woman flying an airplane from the United States across the mid-Atlantic to Africa and that Mrs. Mock was the first woman ever to have landed a plane in Saudi Arabia.

Mrs. Mock is trying to set two speed records on her flight —one for women on around-the-world flights and the other for men or women in airplanes weighing less than 3,800 pounds.

Opinion Given On New Elected Police Jurors

JONESVILLE (Special) — Newly-elected police jurors become eligible to take office immediately after being commissioned and taking the oath.

A state attorney general opinion to that effect was written at the request of treasurer H. A. Taliaferro of the Catahoula Parish Police Jury.

An opinion written by Thomas W. McFerrin, special counsel for the attorney general, notes that the law says police jurors are elected for terms for one general state election to the next general state election. It does not say they are elected every four years.

Defeated jurors are known as hold-overs, still entitled to exercise the duties of their office. At the moment of the taking of the oath by their successors, hold-overs are no longer entitled to discharge any duties.

FRENCH A-TESTS

"Do you mind if I bring Edwin along on our date tonight? He just got his allowance today!"

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

MISS MIDNIGHT'S NOTEBOOK: This has been the year for royalty to make headlines — with surprise betrothals, changes of religion, mysterious flights and having babies — and pretty Princess Irene of Greece may join the group. She's mooning tenderly over a New York lawyer whom she met on her last visit to the United States . . . The post office at Cape Kennedy isn't quite "with it." Letters originating from our astronaut launching base are still postmarked "Cape Canaveral." We're all for government economy and turninng out lights in the White House, but surely a li'l ole cancellation stamp couldn't cost very much.

Local musicians who work in network studios are in a panic over the new contract their union signed with the networks. It permits the studios to reduce the number of staff musicians previously required, and they expect the axes to start swinging any day . . . The Vic Damones, who were almost killed in that recent auto accident (seat belts saved their lives), have received good news from Mrs. Damone's obsetrician. The expected baby is okay. So they're not brooding over Vic's brand new $15,000 Ferrari, which was completely destroyed . . . A famed basketball star, currently in California with his team, is becoming notorious in his new home town because of his wild parties. Police, constantly summoned by the neighbors when things get riotous, have warned him to control his guests or risk the station house —and the front pages.

At the celebrity party Jane Morgan tossed for French singer Charles Aznavour, Jack Carter took a little white box out of his pocket and showed the guests a dazzling diamond ring he'd just bought for his wife. When Charles poked his head through the circle surrounding Jack, gandered the gem and exclaimed, "Alors, what is that? the comedian replied: "That, mon ami, is my entire Waldorf salary!"

The televsion industry may well get ready for a bomshell. The manufacturer of a birth control pill is preparing a video advertising campaign . . . The publishing world expects a furor at E. P. Dutton when Terry Southern's novel "Candy" is released. The book has been described as "a satire on pornography" and "incredible." Many magazines have refused to review it. . . How now, Caesar? Full-page advertisements featuring photographs of Rex Harrison have been running in all the trade papers with this salutation: "Hail Caesar!" . . ."20th Century-Fox Proudly Salutes Rex Harrison and his Academy Award Nonination for Best Actor of the Year for his portrayal of Julius Caesar in 'Cleopatra' " It must be a laugh for the star when he recalls that he was completely left out of the original "Cleo" ads, which just featured Liz and Dickie until Rex raised a bit of a flap and threatened to sue. . .The Bob Livingston who just snagged a big producing job with David Susskind is the genius son of dress designer Mollie Parnis . . . Phil Greenwald is in the midst of negotiations with Maurice Chevalier to headline at the Concord — another "first" for the Catskills fun farm, if it comes off.

Saxophonist Ornette Coleman, one of the far-out Jazzmen, must have something really offbeat in mind. He's learning to play the violin . . . Renowned French dramatist Marcel Pagnol is ailing in Paris. . . The Peppermint Lounge just lost out on a fine publicity break at the World's Fair because of Mr. Moses' rigid rule book. The American Machine and Foundry Co., which will have a monorail ride at the Fair as its main lure, was all set to paint "Peppermint Lounge" on the lead monorail car, to symbolize the ride's thrills — but the rule makers killed it with a "Sorry, absolutely no outside advertising" verdict . . . It was enough to make the regulars swear off their toddys the other night at Harold's Show Spot when author Budd Schulberg got on his knees and held a long conversation with a midget from the circus. Budd's offhand explanation: "I don't like to talk down to anybody."

California political experts believe the state's Negro vote will go to Gov. Rockefeller. . .Department of Startling Honesty: The ballyhooers for the new Ian Fleming movie, "From Russia With Love," admit that one of the "Turkish" belly dancers in the picture is a Brooklyn girl . . . "Oliver!" creator Lionel Bart bought a $168,000 London lair with the loot from his Broadway success. . . The Russians are planning big cold war news to break on or about May Day — probably the launching of the first section of a manned orbiting space station.

The city government group decided at a meeting held Thursday night that no parking tickets will be issued from now until Labor Day.

In other action the aldermen:

— Sold to W. T. Key for $150 a pickup truck and decided to re-advertise for bids on a pickup.

— Designated May as "cleanup month."

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

GLOBE CIRCLING SOLOS

Flying Housewives Narrowing Mileage

By United Press International

The gap between America's two air-minded housewives narrowed Friday as they sought to become the first women ever to fly solo around the world.

Mrs. Joan Smith, 27, of Long Beach, Calif., landed her twin-engine Piper Apache at India's famed Dum Dum Airport. Her globe-circling competitor, Mrs. Jerrie Mock, 38, of Columbus, Ohio, was grounded at Manila for repairs but planned to resume her journey Saturday, leaving for Guam "at the crack of dawn."

Mrs. Smith, the wife of a Navy minesweeper commander, arrived at Dum Dum near Calcutta at 9:41 p.m. (11:11 a.m., EST) after a seven - hour flight from Ahmedabad, India. She told newsmen her radio was acting up and that it would have to be repaired before she could continue on. The blonde aviatrix said she would remain in Dum Dum until Sunday "to do some shopping and to buy an Indian sari and some good raw silk" while the radio is being repaired.

Mrs. Mock, who arrived in Manila Wednesday on a flight from Bangkok, faced the toughest part of her trip — long hops over the South Pacific.

The spare was sent to Manila by Mrs. Mock's husband. She spent Friday sightseeing in Manila with a Filipino couple, Mr. and Mrs. Voltaire Bernardino. Mrs. Bernardino is a classmate of Mrs. Mock's sister, Barbara.

Mrs. Smith's flight plans and her attempt to catch up with Mrs. Mock were complicated Friday when the Burmese government rejected her request for permission to land at Rangoon Airport. The government said she could overfly Burma but not land.

Mrs. Smith complained that she had remitted $55 to Rangoon for landing charges and had spent much more than that for cables to the Burmese government applying for landing rights.

The California flier said she was not in a race with Mrs. Mock. She said her route was 5,000 miles longer than Mrs. Mock's.

'You cannot consider this a race," Mrs. Smith said. She is following the route taken 27 years ago by Amelia Earhart, the Kansan who disappeared over the Pacific.

Mrs. Smith said she flies under her maiden name — Joan Merriam.

In Washington, officials of the National Aeronautics Association announced Friday that Mrs. Mock already has taken two "firsts" in her flight. They said there is no previous record of a woman flying an airplane from the United States across the mid-Atlantic to Africa and that Mrs. Mock was the first woman ever to have landed a plane in Saudi Arabia.

Mrs. Mock is trying to set two speed records on her flight —one for women on around-the-world flights and the other for men or women in airplanes weighing less than 3,800 pounds.

Opinion Given On New Elected Police Jurors

JONESVILLE (Special) — Newly-elected police jurors become eligible to take office immediately after being commissioned and taking the oath.

A state attorney general opinion to that effect was written at the request of treasurer H. A. Taliaferro of the Catahoula Parish Police Jury.

An opinion written by Thomas W. McFerrin, special counsel for the attorney general, notes that the law says police jurors are elected for terms for one general state election to the next general state election. It does not say they are elected every four years.

Defeated jurors are known as hold-overs, still entitled to exercise the duties of their office. At the moment of the taking of the oath by their successors, hold-overs are no longer entitled to discharge any duties.

FRENCH A-TESTS

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP) — Proposed French nuclear tests in the Pacific will be discussed by New Zealand's Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville next week.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

MISS MIDNIGHT'S NOTEBOOK: This has been the year for royalty to make headlines — with surprise betrothals, changes of religion, mysterious flights and having babies — and pretty Princess Irene of Greece may join the group. She's mooning tenderly over a New York lawyer whom she met on her last visit to the United States . . . The post office at Cape Kennedy isn't quite "with it." Letters originating from our astronaut launching base are still postmarked "Cape Canaveral." We're all for government economy and turninng out lights in the White House, but surely a li'l ole cancellation stamp couldn't cost very much.

Local musicians who work in network studios are in a panic over the new contract their union signed with the networks. It permits the studios to reduce the number of staff musicians previously required, and they expect the axes to start swinging any day . . . The Vic Damones, who were almost killed in that recent auto accident (seat belts saved their lives), have received good news from Mrs. Damone's obsetrician. The expected baby is okay. So they're not brooding over Vic's brand new $15,000 Ferrari, which was completely destroyed . . . Police, constantly summoned by the neighbors when things get riotous, have warned him to control his guests or risk the station house —and the front pages.

PERNICIOUS ANEMIA IN THE PAST

Pernicious anemia was a fatal disease less than 40 years ago. The situation changed somewhat in 1926, with the discovery of the beneficial effects of liver. Eating half a pound of liver a day was not practical but liver extract came into being three or four years later.

Victims of this form of anemia now maintain a normal blood count and avoid the more serious complications with a monthly injection of vitamin B12. What happened to these individuals before we learned the value of liver and B12?

This story may be of interest to the two women with pernicious anemia I saw recently at the clinic. They were feeling sorry for themselves because they needed an injection of vitamin B12 every month. This would have been the story of their life if they had happened to develop the illness around 1920.

Symptoms such as fatigue, weakness, shortness of breath, and pallor developed when the red blood count was reduced by half. These people felt so tired it was difficult to work continuously for more than 15 minutes. Their friends kept telling them how pale they looked and suggested a tonic. But even if they had taken such a product it would have been wasted because iron does nothing for this form of anemia.

Meanwhile, neurologic complications were in the making because the tissues lacked vitamin B12. Numbness and tingling of the fingers and toes occurred. The nerve weakness made walking difficult and interfered with such simple tasks as buttoning clothing and holding utensils. In cooperation, muscle weakness, and spasms followed, with increasing degeneration of nerve tissue. In time, paralysis ensued and the victims resorted to a wheelchair and finally to bed.

Many complained of loss of the senses of taste and smell. The tongue became smooth, shiny, and sore, especially along the edges. Indigestion was common and, toward the end, the individual became dull, apathetic, irritable, and comatose.

I doubt if the two women who attended the clinic would swap 12 injections of vitamin B12 annually for the five years at most of slow death that would have been their lot five decades ago.

Pesticide Hearings End In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—A two-day hearing on agricultural use of three pesticides ended Friday with a manufacturer of the poisons testifying there is no evidence of any public health problem.

S. H. McAllister, representing Shell Chemical Co. of New York said that until more information is developed judgment should be withheld before weighing the benefits to be gained against the potential or alleged hazards.

He testified at a hearing by the Agriculture Department which is seeking information on results of use of the chemicals and, particularly, to see if they caused a huge fish kill in the lower Mississippi River.

The chemicals are aldrin, endrin and dieldrin.

The department will conduct similar hearings at Memphis on April 16 and 17 and at Baton Rouge, La., on April 23 and 24.

A department spokesman said all the testimony and data presented at the hearings will be thoroughly analyzed and evaluated to see what action might be taken.

McAllister said Shell stands ready to cooperate with government regulatory agencies, scientists and universities in determining the cause of the fish kill and in seeking out remedial measures.

Since the beginnings of recorded history, McAllister said, there have been fish kills in the Mississippi River arising from accident and unknown causes, long before the manufacture of the three pesticides in question.

McAllister said there is no evidence that runoff from the farm lands in the Mississippi River basin involving aldrin or dieldrin as used in normal practice is responsible for the fish kill.

Ruth G. Desmond, Arlington, Va., president of the Federation of Homemakers, expressed hope Congress would give the Food and Drug Administration more leeway in handling situations of this kind.

In discussing the fish kill, Miss Desmond said she hopes the U.S. Public Health Service checks to see if particles of the three pesticides are being stored in the fats of humans living in the area.

G. Osmond Hyde, chief hearing examiner for the department who presided at the hearing, read a statement from the Izaak Walton League urging the three pesticides be suspended from use pending a final recommendation.

But even if they had taken such a product it would have been wasted because iron does nothing for this form of anemia.

Meanwhile, neurologic complications were in the making because the tissues lacked vitamin B12. Numbness and tingling of the fingers and toes occurred. The nerve weakness made walking difficult and interfered with such simple tasks as buttoning clothing and holding utensils. In cooperation, muscle weakness, and spasms followed, with increasing degeneration of nerve tissue. In time, paralysis ensued and the victims resorted to a wheelchair and finally to bed.

Many complained of loss of the senses of taste and smell. The tongue became smooth, shiny, and sore, especially along the edges. Indigestion was common and, toward the end, the individual became dull, apathetic, irritable, and comatose.

I doubt if the two women who attended the clinic would swap 12 injections of vitamin B12 annually for the five years at most of slow death that would have been their lot five decades ago.

Local Baptist Home Doesn't Have Salesmen

The Louisiana Baptist Children's Home here does not send out magazine salesmen, officials from the Home said in a public statement Friday.

Earl D. Mercer, public relations director for the home for dependent children, said that last year reports were made of magazine salesmen operating in Louisiana, who represented themselves as being from the Home. "We want the public to know that we do not have such salesmen operating anywhere," Mercer said. He added that if a salesman represents himself as being from the home, the police or sheriff's department should be notified immediately.

Goldwater Raps Risks In Cold War

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said Friday night the United States under administration policies is risking defeat in the cold war and a future with "no choice but surrender or holocaust."

He said the nation has no clear goal nor understandable course in foreign relations and is reaping "the fruits of a policy that has tried to buy friends rather than stick to principles."

Goldwater attacked what he called a "laggard leadership" in an address prepared for delivery at a Youth for Goldwater rally four days before the Illinois presidential primary. His speech was to be telecast live throughout the state by stations in six cities.

The Arizona senator and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, were the only candidates on the ballot in the Illinois presidential preference primary. Write-in campaigns for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge were scrapped on orders from Nixon and from Lodge's campaign managers.

Goldwater was regarded an overwhelming favorite in Illinois, which was termed "Goldwater country" by both major contenders for the Republican governor nomination — Charles H. Percy, chairman of the 1960 GOP National Convention platform committee, and state Treasurer William J. Scott.

Goldwater said U.S. policymakers "grope for some expedient solution in Viet Nam while supporting the neutralization that has become a Communist takeover" of Laos. He said the United States seeks new trade with the Soviet Union and "with the other hand we slap the wrists of good friends who trade with Soviet satellites."

Crossett Seeks Petition Signers For Ordinance

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — Petitions are being circulated in Crossett to get the question of city purchase of the public utilities placed on the November ballot.

The question has been an issue in Crossett since stockholders sold the utilities to a Little Rock interest. It was turned down by a City Council vote in March.

The petitions call for a vote of the people on the question of the City's purchasing the Public Utilities Corp. According to Amendment Seven of the Arkansas Constitution, the people have the power to initiate ordinances by vote. An initiative petition must be signed by 15 per cent of the legal voters. If this number is achieved, then an ordinance calling for a vote on the utility purchase question will be referred to the public at the November general election.

If a majority of voters approve the proposed ordinance, then a special election will be held on Jan. 12 to decide on the purchase.

According to reports, more than half the required signatures have been acquired.

Convention sessions were scheduled to begin Friday night. Principal sessions are on Saturday, including a Saturday night boat trip on the Mississippi River aboard the Memphis Queen.

The Northeast State chapter is presenting a style show at one of the Saturday morning sessions. They will model the secretary's appropriate dress for working hours.

SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER gets a warm welcome from a cowboy-hatted delegation Friday at 12th annual Republican Women's Conference in Washington. Goldwater, bidding for GOP presidential nomination, told delegates the Democratic administration is trying to achieve peace "through a balance of terror—and they are even cutting back our armaments so it won't provoke the communists." Standing beside Goldwater is Mrs. Margaret Braden, without hat, a Republican National committeewoman from Yuma, Ariz. No explanation was given immediately on why Goldwater has right hand bandaged. Four Are Hurt In West Monroe Auto Accidents

Four persons were slightly injured in two separate wrecks in West Monroe Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Roy C. Pittard, 20, and her one-month-old daughter, Leigh Ann, suffered minor cuts and bruises in a two-car collision just after 4 p.m. Friday.

Pittard and his family, of 910 Norris Lane, West Monroe, were traveling west on Cypress Street. Dennis E. Martin, 68, 3407 Dick Taylor St., Monroe, was heading in the opposite direction and attempted to turn left onto Morris Drive in front of the Pittard car, according to West Monroe police.

Martin was charged with reckless driving. Mrs. Pittard and the baby were treated at Glenwood Hospital and released.

The second incident was a three car collision about two miles west of West Monroe at 5:20 p.m.

Two vehicles were stopped heading west on U. S. Hwy. 80 waiting for an auto in front of them to make a left turn, according to Louisiana State Police officers who investigated the accident.

Ernest C. Gunter, 51, Rt. 1, Box 148, West Monroe, was also traveling west and failed to stop, slamming into the preceeding vehicle. Troopers charged Gunter with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

Gunter's car hit a pickup truck driven by J. B. Garrett, 43, Rt. 1, Downsville. A passenger in the truck, Edgar Chris, 43, also of Downsville, suffered slight cuts in the accident, and was treated and released at Glenwood Hospital.

The impact pushed Garrett's truck into the car in front of it, driven by Eliza Slaughter, 69, 1005 Matthews St., Jackson, Miss., who also suffered minor injuries.

Orleans' Tests Of Water Show No Pesticides

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A sample of New Orleans water tested this week showed no measureable quantity of pesticides which have killed fish in the Mississippi River, the Louisiana Board of Health said Friday.

A tiny amount of endrin, a pesticide used on crops including cotton, was found in New Orleans water March 5. The trace amounted to 25 parts per trillion.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is conducting a hearing into the pollution of Mississippi River with pesticides whch resulted in dead fish.

Meanwhile, a Shell Chemical Co. spokesman in Washington debated Public Health Service scientists who said tiny amounts of endrin killed millions of fish in the Mississippi last winter.

S. H. McAllister, general manager of the firm's agricultural chemicals division said: "No reputable scientist believes that small amounts of endrin and related pesticides in our environment constitute a public health hazard."

McAllister said that to stress dangers of endrin "could induce a form of hypochondria in the American people."

MESSAGE TO AFRICA

Hungary, Russia Rebuke Chinese

LONDON (AP)—Winding up Soviet Premier Khrushchev's visit to Budapest, the Soviet Union and Hungary have jointly condemned Red China for trying to split world communism, Moscow radio said Friday night.

The broadcast, beamed to Africa, was a commentary on a joint communique to be issued Saturday. Khrushchev left Budapest for Moscow on Friday after a 10-day visit. The communique echoes speeches by Khrushchev in Hungary.

"Drawing attention to the unity of the Socialist (Communist) camp, and the international movement, the joint Soviet-Hungarian declaration resolution condemns the splitting activities of the Chinese leaders," the Moscow broadcast said.

"The Peking leaders are trying to produce disorganization in the ranks of the Communist movement and thus to weaken the main revolutionary force in the battle of the people against imperialism and colonialism, in the battle for peace.

"They attack the principle of peaceful coexistence between states of differing social systems and the peaceful competition between socialism and capitalism in the economic field."

Peking radio replied, in a way, to Khrushchev's recent attacks by broadcasting a two-month-old article from Communist North Viet Nam's theoretical journal Study.

"The modern revisionists (meaning Khrushchev and his supporters) talk about the ruin and horrors of war to frighten people and make them fear to rise up and oppose imperialism," said the journal.

"Should a nuclear war break out, it would cause tremendous losses to the people of the world, but it would not exterminate mankind. The people must endure such sacrifices so that they can annihilate capitalism and avert the ruin and death created by capitalism."

Moscow's next move in the dispute with Peking may be decided next week when leaders of Hungary, Poland, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Mongolia and possibly Romania meet with Khrushchev in Moscow. They will be there for Khrushchev's 70th birthday.

Poland opposes the Soviet call for a showdown meeting on Red China, fearing an irreparable split in world Communist ranks. Palmiro Togliatti, Italian Communist leader, also took this view Friday while making clear his party sides with Khrushchev in the dispute.

The Soviet news agency Tass distributed a Havana dispatch indicating Cuba might be lining up behind Khrushchev. Tass said the Cuban news agency Prensa Latina circulated the text of a statement by the Communist party of El Salvador assailing the Chinese Communists.

Local Baptist Home Doesn't Have Salesmen

The Louisiana Baptist Children's Home here does not send out magazine salesmen, officials from the Home said in a public statement Friday.

Earl D. Mercer, public relations director for the home for dependent children, said that last year reports were made of magazine salesmen operating in Louisiana, who represented themselves as being from the Home. "We want the public to know that we do not have such salesmen operating anywhere," Mercer said. Goldwater Raps Risks In Cold War

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said Friday night the United States under administration policies is risking defeat in the cold war and a future with "no choice but surrender or holocaust."

He said the nation has no clear goal nor understandable course in foreign relations and is reaping "the fruits of a policy that has tried to buy friends rather than stick to principles."

Goldwater attacked what he called a "laggard leadership" in an address prepared for delivery at a Youth for Goldwater rally four days before the Illinois presidential primary. His speech was to be telecast live throughout the state by stations in six cities.

The Arizona senator and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, were the only candidates on the ballot in the Illinois presidential preference primary. Write-in campaigns for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge were scrapped on orders from Nixon and from Lodge's campaign managers.

Goldwater was regarded an overwhelming favorite in Illinois, which was termed "Goldwater country" by both major contenders for the Republican governor nomination — Charles H. Percy, chairman of the 1960 GOP National Convention platform committee, and state Treasurer William J. Scott.

Goldwater said U.S. policymakers "grope for some expedient solution in Viet Nam while supporting the neutralization that has become a Communist takeover" of Laos. He said the United States seeks new trade with the Soviet Union and "with the other hand we slap the wrists of good friends who trade with Soviet satellites."

Crossett Seeks Petition Signers For Ordinance

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — Petitions are being circulated in Crossett to get the question of city purchase of the public utilities placed on the November ballot.

The question has been an issue in Crossett since stockholders sold the utilities to a Little Rock interest. It was turned down by a City Council vote in March.

The petitions call for a vote of the people on the question of the City's purchasing the Public Utilities Corp. According to Amendment Seven of the Arkansas Constitution, the people have the power to initiate ordinances by vote. An initiative petition must be signed by 15 per cent of the legal voters. If this number is achieved, then an ordinance calling for a vote on the utility purchase question will be referred to the public at the November general election.

If a majority of voters approve the proposed ordinance, then a special election will be held on Jan. 12 to decide on the purchase.

According to reports, more than half the required signatures have been acquired.

Four Are Hurt In West Monroe Auto Accidents

Four persons were slightly injured in two separate wrecks in West Monroe Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Roy C. Pittard, 20, and her one-month-old daughter, Leigh Ann, suffered minor cuts and bruises in a two-car collision just after 4 p.m. Friday.

Pittard and his family, of 910 Norris Lane, West Monroe, were traveling west on Cypress Street. Dennis E. Martin, 68, 3407 Dick Taylor St., Monroe, was heading in the opposite direction and attempted to turn left onto Morris Drive in front of the Pittard car, according to West Monroe police.

Martin was charged with reckless driving. Mrs. Pittard and the baby were treated at Glenwood Hospital and released.

The second incident was a three car collision about two miles west of West Monroe at 5:20 p.m.

Two vehicles were stopped heading west on U. S. Hwy. 80 waiting for an auto in front of them to make a left turn, according to Louisiana State Police officers who investigated the accident.

Ernest C. Gunter, 51, Rt. 1, Box 148, West Monroe, was also traveling west and failed to stop, slamming into the preceeding vehicle. Troopers charged Gunter with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

Gunter's car hit a pickup truck driven by J. B. Garrett, 43, Rt. 1, Downsville. A passenger in the truck, Edgar Chris, 43, also of Downsville, suffered slight cuts in the accident, and was treated and released at Glenwood Hospital.

The impact pushed Garrett's truck into the car in front of it, driven by Eliza Slaughter, 69, 1005 Matthews St., Jackson, Miss., who also suffered minor injuries.

Orleans' Tests Of Water Show No Pesticides

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A sample of New Orleans water tested this week showed no measureable quantity of pesticides which have killed fish in the Mississippi River, the Louisiana Board of Health said Friday.

A tiny amount of endrin, a pesticide used on crops including cotton, was found in New Orleans water March 5. The trace amounted to 25 parts per trillion.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is conducting a hearing into the pollution of Mississippi River with pesticides whch resulted in dead fish.

Meanwhile, a Shell Chemical Co. spokesman in Washington debated Public Health Service scientists who said tiny amounts of endrin killed millions of fish in the Mississippi last winter.

S. H. McAllister, general manager of the firm's agricultural chemicals division said: "No reputable scientist believes that small amounts of endrin and related pesticides in our environment constitute a public health hazard."

McAllister said that to stress dangers of endrin "could induce a form of hypochondria in the American people."

MESSAGE TO AFRICA

Hungary, Russia Rebuke Chinese

LONDON (AP)—Winding up Soviet Premier Khrushchev's visit to Budapest, the Soviet Union and Hungary have jointly condemned Red China for trying to split world communism, Moscow radio said Friday night.

The broadcast, beamed to Africa, was a commentary on a joint communique to be issued Saturday. Khrushchev left Budapest for Moscow on Friday after a 10-day visit. The communique echoes speeches by Khrushchev in Hungary.

"Drawing attention to the unity of the Socialist (Communist) camp, and the international movement, the joint Soviet-Hungarian declaration resolution condemns the splitting activities of the Chinese leaders," the Moscow broadcast said.

"The Peking leaders are trying to produce disorganization in the ranks of the Communist movement and thus to weaken the main revolutionary force in the battle of the people against imperialism and colonialism, in the battle for peace.

"They attack the principle of peaceful coexistence between states of differing social systems and the peaceful competition between socialism and capitalism in the economic field."

Peking radio replied, in a way, to Khrushchev's recent attacks by broadcasting a two-month-old article from Communist North Viet Nam's theoretical journal Study.

"The modern revisionists (meaning Khrushchev and his supporters) talk about the ruin and horrors of war to frighten people and make them fear to rise up and oppose imperialism," said the journal.

"Should a nuclear war break out, it would cause tremendous losses to the people of the world, but it would not exterminate mankind. The people must endure such sacrifices so that they can annihilate capitalism and avert the ruin and death created by capitalism."

Moscow's next move in the dispute with Peking may be decided next week when leaders of Hungary, Poland, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria Mongolia and possibly Romania meet with Khrushchev in Moscow. They will celebrate Khrushchev's 70th birthday.

Poland opposes the Soviet call for a showdown meeting on Red China, fearing an irreparable split in world Communist ranks. Palmiro Togliatti, Italian Communist leader, also took this view Friday while making clear his party sides with Khrushchev in the dispute.

The Soviet news agency Tass distributed a Havana dispatch indicating Cuba might be lining up behind Khrushchev. Tass said the Cuban news agency Prensa Latina circulated the text of a statement by the Communist party of El Salvador assailing the Chinese Communists.

Palmer Forges Into Masters Lead

By ROBERT EWING III
World Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga., — Right now the greatest golfer in all the wide world is Arnold Palmer and if you don't believe it, just ask some of the thousands within his "Army" that cheered him onto one of his greatest rounds of golf as he fired a blistering 68 Friday to go with his first round 69 and threatened to make a runaway of the 28th Masters golf tournament.

Palmer, paired with the clowning Juan "Chi Chi" Rodriguez, took the lead on the sixth hole with his second straight birdie after an earlier bogey on the fourth. He parred in for a one-under-par 5 on the front line.

Palmer's first nine holes, as related in a press interview by Palmer himself, went like this: (number of hole, length of hole, and par for hole will be listed in that order) 1-400-4, driver, 7-iron 12 feet from the pin, 2-putts; 2-555-5, driver, 3-wood, wedge 10-12 feet, 2-putts; 3-355-4, driver, wedge 8 feet, 2-putts; 4-220-3, 2-iron into the front trap, sand wedge 20-feet, 2 putts; 5-450-4, driver, 5-iron 8 feet, 1-putt; 6-190-3, 6-iron 10 feet, 1-putt; 7-365-4, driver, wedge 8 feet, 2-putts; 8-530-5, driver, 3-wood, wedge 2 feet, 2-putts, 9-420-4, driver, 8-iron, 20-feet 2-putts.

One of the writers asked in a puzzled tone of voice, "Two putts from two feet on eight?" And Palmer quipped "yeah — what the hell's wrong with that?"

STRONG BACK SIDE

Then came that big back side for the grand gladiator of golf — he hit a good drive and a big two-iron to the well-trapped, tough, but beautiful, 470-yard, par-four 10th hole to within 10 feet of the cup but missed his try for a birdie. Palmer hit a three-iron approach to the water-guarded 445-yard, par-four 11th about 25 feet from the cup and got his par with two putts. One of the hardest and probably the trickiest holes on the course is the 155-yard, par-three 12th hole where anything other than a near perfect shot is in trouble. Palmer, staying away from the water and front traps, hit into one of the rear traps and then almost hit the ball over the green into the water from a buried lie, but the ball stopped short of the water and he chipped back to within 4-feet and made the putt for his second bogey of the day.

Palmer then played the next six holes in almost sheer perfection from all angles. He hit a driver and a one-iron to within five-feet of the par-five, 475-yard 13th, but missed the eagle putt and settled for a birdie. He hit a good drive and a five-iron approach to the 420-yard, par-four 14th hole about 25-feet from the pin and two-putted. The next hole gave him his spark — he really bombed a drive and then played for the right side of the green which is safer than the middle because of the water in front but pushed his three-wood slightly to the right on the par-five, 520-yard 15th hole. From here Palmer hit "just a real bad pitch shot" onto the green about "30 or 35 feet" and holed it for a birdie.

ARMY GOES WILD

"Halalujah." Arnie's army went wild but they had a lot more coming up — Palmer screamed a five-iron over the water on 190-yard, par-three 16th to within six-feet of an almost impossible pin placement position for perhaps his finest shot of the day.

He promptly plopped the putt in for his second straight birdie. He let loose on another fine drive (he never had it out of the middle of the fairway all day except when it was to his advantage to do so) and hit an eight-iron to within eight feet of the hole on the 400-yard, par-fourth 17th, but lipped the putt out. The final hole, his waterloo in the 1961 masters when he blew to a double-bogey six to lose by a stroke, is a fine 420-yard, par-four test which Palmer has been prone to birdie since that little incident in 1961. And, just to add icing to the cake, he hit a good drive and a fine four-iron to within "eight to 10 feet" and then dropped the putt for his fat four-stroke lead which he carries into today's third round.

If Palmer keeps up the pace of his first two rounds he will tie the record for 72 holes that Ben Hogan set at 274 back when he won in 1953.

Jack Nicklaus, the defending champion and pre-tourney favorite, had a one-over-par 73 which put him seven shots back of Palmer at even par 144.

Nicklaus, in a press interview following his round, said "I don't think I've ever seen a golf course as hard as this was today considering the fact that the weather is perfect. I've never seen the tees set this far back on the pin placements on all of the greens as tough as they were out there today. That's o.k., they (the tournament committee) can put them (the pins) where they want them, it's just that I've never seen every single one of them in the hardest position to get to all in one day. The course was longer and harder than I've ever seen it played since I've been coming to Augusta".

Nicklaus said that he had about the same type of round as far as his putting was concerned as he had the previous round. He said that the longest putt he has made so far is six feet and that he had his first one-putt green Friday when he made a birdie on the sixth hole after hitting a six-iron to within six feet of the hole. He bogied the 15th when, he tried to cut a three-wood into the green and came off the shot and hit into the water in front of the green. He birdied the next hole in the identical way that Palmer did. On 17, Jack said "I must have gone to sleep or something because I had a real easy nine-iron shot to the green and dumped it into the trap at the left of the green and then knocked it out 10 feet past the hole and missed the putt. I hit a six-iron 10 feet from the hole at 18 but missed it."

STILL HAS CHANCE

Nicklaus then said about Palmer, "If he keeps on playing the way he is, forget it. But if he has a (normal round) someone might be able to fire a red-hot score and get back in the ball game." Nicklaus conceded that if Palmer were to shoot two 70's that it would be no contest — no one could catch him unless he shoots a "bad round like a 73 — 73 is not really bad, but it's not good if you know what I mean". (We know what you mean, it's no good for the top position at the masters.)

Arnold Palmer has not won a tournament since last October when he won the Whitemarsh Open in Philadelphia and has played in 11 since then, 10 this year and one more last year. He said Friday that he has been priming his game to come around for this one although it was beginning to look discouraging as far as his putting went. He said that he still didn't putt too well Friday because he missed a couple of short ones but that it has improved in that he hasn't had any three-putts so far.

The closest rival to Palmer is another ex-masters winner, Gary Player, the other member of golf's "Big Three." Player birdied the 18th for an even par round of 72. Player trails Palmer by four shots, 141-137, going into today's third round which will be covered by an-tional television.

Don January took a big triple-bogey six at the troublesome 12th when his tee shot kicked off the bank and back into the water but then he came back with a couple of birdies to fire a 72 and occupy third place alongside Gene Littler at 142.

Tony Lema turned in one of the day's finest and the tournament's lowest rounds with a 68 that put him into contention at 143. Dan Sikes birdied four of the last six holes for the other 68 which put him at 144.

HOGAN SURVIVES

Ben Hogan had his approach shots falling short of the pin and sometimes short of the green in posting a 75 to barely survive the cut-off at 148. Hogan's putting was much improved but his game was off in judgment of distances—he hit the ball dead straight and struck it solidly, but pulled the wrong club out of his bag too many times.

Jimmy Demaret fashioned a 69 for a 144 total that could put him into contention with a hot round today. Demaret is one of the three-time winners of this tournament along with Snead and Palmer.

Billy Joe Patton slipped to a 74 but is the leading amateur at 144, the same as Demaret. Dean Beman, the reigning National Amateur champion, is hot on Patton's heels with 145.

A light plane circled overhead Friday while Palmer was playing and it carried a banner which read "Go Arnie Go" in big red letters. Arnold said that he saw it on the fourth hole and that if it was anyone that worked for him that he would fire them (but he was only joking) — it actually seemed to please him, but he said that he had no idea who it was. A reporter then said "If Nicklaus was flying that plane, where do you think he wanted you to go," Palmer and everyone else laughed.

ARNIE'S PLIGHT

Just Need Hat, The Right Hat

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — It's not driving, approaching or putting that's bothering Arnold Palmer most in his bid for a fourth Masters Golf Championship.

It's his headgear.

"I just don't seem able to get the right kind of hat," the fairway idol said Friday. "If I like a hat, Winnie vetoes it. Then I'll decide against one that she recommends.

"People are always coming up to me and saying I should wear this kind of hat or that. Most people want me to go bareheaded."

Since the beginning of the week Palmer has tried out four different styles of headgear—almost like a woman selecting an Easter bonnet.

"I've always played without a hat," Arnie said. "But I'm having trouble with my skin—maybe from stopping smoking. Also, I think it's better if I have a shade when I'm putting."

At the first of the week, Palmer donned a beige porkpie, the kind many golfers wear and his company makes.

"That has to go," Winnie, Arnold's pretty brunette wife said with alarm. "You look dreadful."

Palmer acquiesced.

Spectators didn't even recognize him on the putting green. They had grown accustomed to his strong, brown face, with his rounded features and receding hairline.

The British cap wouldn't do. "It made him look like a thug," Winnie said, putting her foot down.

In the first round Thursday, Palmer made a third shift—this time to a baseball style cap, white with a long brim.

"I don't like it at all," Winnie said. "It made him look balloon-headed. I told him so."

Arnold didn't want to look balloon-headed.

Tribe Defeats Tech Tennis Team By 5-2

Northeast State took the top three singles matches and both doubles to win its second straight tennis contest of the year Friday afternoon, 5-2 over Louisiana Tech.

Margo Alvarez, Bob Owen and Richard Campbell — Northeast's 1-2-3 punch — had a hand in all the Indian points in the matches at the Forsythe Park courts. All three won their singles matches, Alvarez and Owen won No. 1 doubles and Campbell and Buddy Embanato took No. 2 doubles.

Alvarez, the GSC singles champion, beat Tech's Robert Taylor in the day's longest and best match. Alvarez won the first set relatively easily, 6-3, and was comfortably ahead in the second when Taylor began to battle back. The Tech star tied the score, then finally won the marathon set, 9-7, before succumbing in the third, 6-1.

Owen polished off Dennis Perry in No. 2 singles in straight sets and Campbell whipped basketballer Jim Pruett, also in straight sets.

Mike Sport and Tommy Wynn won Tech's two points, Sport beating Mike Boykin in straight sets in No. 4 and Wynn winning the final two sets in No. 5 after losing the first to Bob Statham.

A No. 6 singles was played, but did not count in the score according to Gulf States Conference practice. Northeast's F.L. Clark beat Bruce Cowan, 6-2, 6-4.

The No. 1 doubles, like the No. 1 singles, was a close match. Alvarez and Owen won the first set finally, 9-7, but lost the second, 3-6, before taking the third, 6-2.

Campbell and Embanato whipped Pruett and Sport in No. 2 easily, 6-0, 6-1.

PERALTA LOSES IN SIXTH

The cut was inflicted in the fourth round and the champion worked it over in the fifth.

The gash appeared to be at least 1½ inches wide and blood dripped into the aggressive Argentine's eye.

"I knew it was just a matter of time after that cut came up," Pastrano said after the fight. "That blood gave me a good target. All I had to do was pour it in there."

Dr. A. J. Italiano inspected the gash after the fourth round and then again after the fifth, a round in which Peralta mounted an all-out assault and battered Pastrano all over the ring.

When the bell sounded it was announced the bout was stopped. Under rules of the Louisiana Athletic Commission, it goes into the record books as a sixth round technical knockout.

Each weighed 174¾ pounds and Peralta seemed in such good spirits at the noon weigh-in that it appeared trimming down to the 175-pound division limit for the first time in 14 months hadn't weakened him.

Perhaps because of this, the 6-5 odds favoring the champion shifted to 7-5 in favor of the Argentine in the late afternoon.

Peralta had weighed 183½ pounds to Pastrano's 179 last Sept. 20 when he scored a decisive victory over Willie in a non-title 10-rounder at Miami Beach.

"I was a different boy this time," Pastrano said. "The big difference is that I was in better shape. I fought real hard."

He called the Argentine "a gallant fighter" and said he would be "glad to give him another shot if he wants it."

Pastrano was leading on the scorecards of two of the three officials and was even on the card of the third. The Associated Press card had Peralta ahead 3-2 in rounds, giving Pastrano the first two and Peralta the last three.

Referee Pete Giarrusso had it even 2-2-1 in rounds. Judge Francis Kercheval had Pastrano no ahead 4-1. He gave Pastrano the first four rounds. Judge Herman Dutriex had it 3-1-1. He gave Pastrano the first three rounds, called the next even and gave Peralta the fifth.

Peralta said the cut was caused by a butt and that he could have continued. His American manager, Charley Johnston, also claimed the cut was caused by a butt and that Peralta could have kept fighting.

"I could have gone on longer" said the downcast Peralta. "I was getting stronger with each round. The cut wasn't bothering me too much. It's just bad luck. My dream is lost."

He said he planned to fly home to Argentina today.

The defeat snapped Peralta's unbeaten streak at 29. His record now is 39-4-4. It was the second time he's been stopped. Mauro Mina of Peru stopped him on cuts nearly four years ago and that was his last defeat.

Pastrano's record now is 62-12-8.

The defense was Pastrano's first since he won the crown on a disputed 15-round decision over Harold Johnson of Philadelphia last June 1.

There were many open spaces in the arena and the crowd was unofficially estimated at about 6,000.

The two went at it at a fast clip from the opening bell. The Argentine pressed the attack but Willie used a stinging left jab and his dancing feet to win the first two rounds.

In the third, Peralta started to land some thumping left hooks and right chops to Willie's body. It wasn't long before Pastrano's body was a glowing pink.

Still Pastrano remained calm and collected and he traded punches several times with his attacking rival.

Peralta pressed the attack time and again in the fourth and fifth rounds. He maneuvered Willie to the ropes and slammed the body with left hands and chopping rights.

Whitworth In Capitol City Tourney Lead

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Kathy Whitworth of San Antonio, Tex., took the lead after the first round of the inaugural $7,500 Capitol City Ladies Tournament Friday with a three-under-par 69.

She finished the 18 holes one stroke better than three runners up with 70s, Sybil Griffin of Boyington Beach, Fla., Kathy Cornelius of Corpus Christi, Tex., and Sandra Haynie of Phoenix, Ariz.

Mickey Wright of Dallas, playing in her first tournament since an ankle injury last February forced her to miss the first two LPGA tourneys this year, had a 71 and was happy with the score. Two others, Judy Kimball and Carol Mann, also had 71s.

Miss Whitworth, who earned close to $29,000 on the circuit last year making her second to Miss Wright, is known as one of the strongest hitters on the tour.

The 25-year-old pro, 5-foot-8 and 145 pounds, had four birdies on the front nine for a four-under-par 33. But she had trouble coming back. After a birdie on the 10th hole, she bogeyed the 15th and 17th holes to finish with a one-over-par 36 on the last nine.

Barbara Faye White of Shreveport, La., one of about 15 amateurs playing with about 30 professionals, had a three-over-par 75 for the day.

Clifford Ann Creed of Alexandria, La., current rookie of the year after finishing her first tour on the pro circuit in 1963 in fifth place in money earned, had a 75.

GRAY'S LAST STAND

Need A Charm? Or, 'No Snakes

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—"You have to admit one thing," said Downing Gray, "I did not step on one single rattlesnake."

Nor, it must be confessed, was he struck by lightning. And no runaway freight trains ran him down on the putting green.

But those are almost the only disasters that did not befall Gray, a handsome, 25-year-old amateur golfer from Pensacola, Fla., who posted the worst opening round score of the Masters Golf Tournament Thursday, a 15-over par 87.

Gray's opening round on the Augusta National Course was unusual for one other feature. He had one of the three eagles scored, a two-under-par three at the 15th hole.

'I hit three perfect golf shots there," Gray said before he teed off Friday to try again. "I needed it. By that time I was laughing so hard I wasn't sure I would break 100."

Gray was coupled with defending champion Jack Nicklaus, who shot a one-under-par 71, just two strokes off the first round lead.

"I kept asking Jack if all this stuff I was doing was bothering his game," Gray said, "but he told me it wasn't bothering him a bit. He was sympathetic for a while, and finally, after I hit two balls into the water, at the 12th, he said to me, 'You know, this must be the funniest golf round I've ever seen.'

"By that time I was starting to agree with him."

How did it happen?

"I three-putted the first hole for a bogey," Gray said, "and on the second I hooked my tee shot down the hill into the trees. It was stuck up about two feet off the ground in the fork of a tree, and I took the penalty for an unplayable lie.

"I got birdies on five and eight but on nine I went down the hill under the TV tower. I got the ball on the green, and three putted for a six. Gave both strokes back.

"So that's 41, but the boat hasn't sunk yet, and I figure I can still shoot a 76 or so."

However, there was no 76, or anything like it. Gray bumbled to a quadruple bogey seven on the par 3 12th, and—

"No. 13 was worse. My third shot landed in the rough grass. I chipped it out, and it rolled right back in. I took a practice swing. Then I realized I was still in the hazard. It's a two-stroke penalty to take a practice swing there.

"Actually I made a pretty good putt for an eight.

'On 18, I hit the ball under the TV tower again.

Panthers Not Eudora Win At Oak Grove

OAK GROVE (Special)—The Lake Providence Panthers were the winners of the triangular track meet here Thursday rather than Eudora, Ark., as was previously reported.

Lake Providence had 79 5-6 points to Eudora's 79 1-6. It was the winner's first first track victory of the season. Oak Grove was third with 43 points.

Solon Leppert Injures Thumb During Batting

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Catcher Don Leppert of the Washington Senators suffered a chip fracture of the right thumb while catching batting practice Friday and will be out of the line-up from two to three weeks.

Either Ken Retzer or Mike Brumley will catch Claude Osteen when the Senators open the season Monday against the Los Angeles Angels in Washington. Leppert is the only right-handed hitter on the cathing staff.

Palmer Forges Into Masters Lead

By ROBERT EWING III
World Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga., — Right now the greatest golfer in all the wide world is Arnold Palmer and if you don't believe it, just ask some of the thousands within his "Army" that cheered him onto one of his greatest rounds of golf as he fired a blistering 68 Friday to go with his first round 69 and threatened to make a runaway of the 28th Masters golf tournament.

Palmer, paired with the clowning Juan "Chi Chi" Rodriguez, took the lead on the sixth hole with his second straight birdie after an earlier bogey on the fourth. He parred in for a one-under-par 5 on the front line.

Palmer's first nine holes, as related in a press interview by Palmer himself, went like this: (number of hole, length of hole, and par for hole will be listed in that order) 1-400-4, driver, 7-iron 12 feet from the pin, 2-putts; 2-555-5, driver, 3-wood, wedge 10-12 feet, 2-putts; 3-355-4, driver, wedge 8 feet, 2-putts; 4-220-3, 2-iron into the front trap, sand wedge 20-feet, 2 putts; 5-450-4, driver, 5-iron 8 feet, 1-putt; 6-190-3, 6-iron 10 feet, 1-putt; 7-365-4, driver, wedge 8 feet, 2-putts; 8-530-5, driver, 3-wood, wedge 2 feet, 2-putts, 9-420-4, driver, 8-iron, 20-feet 2-putts.

One of the writers asked in a puzzled tone of voice, "Two putts from two feet on eight?" And Palmer quipped "yeah — what the hell's wrong with that?"

STRONG BACK SIDE

Then came that big back side for the grand gladiator of golf — he hit a good drive and a big two-iron to the well-trapped, tough, but beautiful, 470-yard, par-four 10th hole to within 10 feet of the cup but missed his try for a birdie. Palmer hit a three-iron approach to the water-guarded 445-yard, par-four 11th about 25 feet from the cup and got his par with two putts. One of the hardest and probably the trickiest holes on the course is the 155-yard, par-three 12th hole where anything other than a near perfect shot is in trouble. Palmer, staying away from the water and front traps, hit into one of the rear traps and then almost hit the ball over the green into the water from a buried lie, but the ball stopped short of the water and he chipped back to within 4-feet and made the putt for his second bogey of the day.

Palmer then played the next six holes in almost sheer perfection from all angles. He hit a driver and a one-iron to within five-feet of the par-five, 475-yard 13th, but missed the eagle putt and settled for a birdie. He hit a good drive and a five-iron approach to the 420-yard, par-four 14th hole about 25-feet from the pin and two-putted. The next hole gave him his spark — he really bombed a drive and then played for the right side of the green which is safer than the middle because of the water in front but pushed his three-wood slightly to the right on the par-five, 520-yard 15th hole. From here Palmer hit "just a real bad pitch shot" onto the green about "30 or 35 feet" and holed it for a birdie.

ARMY GOES WILD

"Halalujah." Arnie's army went wild but they had a lot more coming up — Palmer screamed a five-iron over the water on 190-yard, par-three 16th to within six-feet of an almost impossible pin placement position for perhaps his finest shot of the day.

He promptly plopped the putt in for his second straight birdie. He let loose on another fine drive (he never had it out of the middle of the fairway all day except when it was to his advantage to do so) and hit an eight-iron to within eight feet of the hole on the 400-yard, par-fourth 17th, but lipped the putt out. The final hole, his waterloo in the 1961 masters when he blew to a double-bogey six to lose by a stroke, is a fine 420-yard, par-four test which Palmer has been prone to birdie since that little incident in 1961. And, just to add icing to the cake, he hit a good drive and a fine four-iron to within "eight to 10 feet" and then dropped the putt for his fat four-stroke lead which he carries into today's third round.

If Palmer keeps up the pace of his first two rounds he will tie the record for 72 holes that Ben Hogan set at 274 back when he won in 1953.

Jack Nicklaus, the defending champion and pre-tourney favorite, had a one-over-par 73 which put him seven shots back of Palmer at even par 144.

Nicklaus, in a press interview following his round, said "I don't think I've ever seen a golf course as hard as this was today considering the fact that the weather is perfect. I've never seen the tees set this far back on the pin placements on all of the greens as tough as they were out there today. That's o.k., they (the tournament committee) can put them (the pins) where they want them, it's just that I've never seen every single one of them in the hardest position to get to all in one day. The course was longer and harder than I've ever seen it played since I've been coming to Augusta".

Nicklaus said that he had about the same type of round as far as his putting was concerned as he had the previous round. He said that the longest putt he has made so far is six feet and that he had his first one-putt green Friday when he made a birdie on the sixth hole after hitting a six-iron to within six feet of the hole. He bogied the 15th when, he tried to cut a three-wood into the green and came off the shot and hit into the water in front of the green. He birdied the next hole in the identical way that Palmer did. On 17, Jack said "I must have gone to sleep or something because I had a real easy nine-iron shot to the green and dumped it into the trap at the left of the green and then knocked it out 10 feet past the hole and missed the putt. I hit a six-iron 10 feet from the hole at 18 but missed it."

STILL HAS CHANCE

Nicklaus then said about Palmer, "If he keeps on playing the way he is, forget it. But if he has a (normal round) someone might be able to fire a red-hot score and get back in the ball game." Nicklaus conceded that if Palmer were to shoot two 70's that it would be no contest — no one could catch him unless he shoots a "bad round like a 73 — 73 is not really bad, but it's not good if you know what I mean". (We know what you mean, it's no good for the top position at the masters.)

Arnold Palmer has not won a tournament since last October when he won the Whitemarsh Open in Philadelphia and has played in 11 since then, 10 this year and one more last year. He said Friday that he has been priming his game to come around for this one although it was beginning to look discouraging as far as his putting went. He said that he still didn't putt too well Friday because he missed a couple of short ones but that it has improved in that he hasn't had any three-putts so far.

The closest rival to Palmer is another ex-masters winner, Gary Player, the other member of golf's "Big Three." Player birdied the 18th for an even par round of 72. Player trails Palmer by four shots, 141-137, going into today's third round which will be covered by an-tional television.

Don January took a big triple-bogey six at the troublesome 12th when his tee shot kicked off the bank and back into the water but then he came back with a couple of birdies to fire a 72 and occupy third place alongside Gene Littler at 142.

Tony Lema turned in one of the day's finest and the tournament's lowest rounds with a 68 that put him into contention at 143. Dan Sikes birdied four of the last six holes for the other 68 which put him at 144.

HOGAN SURVIVES

Ben Hogan had his approach shots falling short of the pin and sometimes short of the green in posting a 75 to barely survive the cut-off at 148. Hogan's putting was much improved but his game was off in judgment of distances—he hit the ball dead straight and struck it solidly, but pulled the wrong club out of his bag too many times.

Jimmy Demaret fashioned a 69 for a 144 total that could put him into contention with a hot round today. Demaret is one of the three-time winners of this tournament along with Snead and Palmer.

Billy Joe Patton slipped to a 74 but is the leading amateur at 144, the same as Demaret. Dean Beman, the reigning National Amateur champion, is hot on Patton's heels with 145.

A light plane circled overhead Friday while Palmer was playing and it carried a banner which read "Go Arnie Go" in big red letters. Arnold said that he saw it on the fourth hole and that if it was anyone that worked for him that he would fire them (but he was only joking) — it actually seemed to please him, but he said that he had no idea who it was. A reporter then said "If Nicklaus was flying that plane, where do you think he wanted you to go," Palmer and everyone else laughed.

ARNIE'S PLIGHT

Just Need Hat, The Right Hat

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — It's not driving, approaching or putting that's bothering Arnold Palmer most in his bid for a fourth Masters Golf Championship.

It's his headgear.

"I just don't seem able to get the right kind of hat," the fairway idol said Friday. "If I like a hat, Winnie vetoes it. Then I'll decide against one that she recommends.

"People are always coming up to me and saying I should wear this kind of hat or that. Most people want me to go bareheaded."

Since the beginning of the week Palmer has tried out four different styles of headgear—almost like a woman selecting an Easter bonnet.

"I've always played without a hat," Arnie said. "But I'm having trouble with my skin—maybe from stopping smoking. Also, I think it's better if I have a shade when I'm putting."

At the first of the week, Palmer donned a beige pork-pie, the kind many golfers wear and his company makes.

"That has to go," Winnie, Arnold's pretty brunette wife said with alarm. "You look dreadful."

Palmer acquiesced.

Spectators didn't even recognize him on the putting green. They had grown accustomed to his strong, brown face, with his rounded features and receding hairline.

The British cap wouldn't do. "It made him look like a thug," Winnie said, putting her foot down.

In the first round Thursday, Palmer made a third shift—this time to a baseball style cap, white with a long brim.

"I don't like it at all," Winnie said. "It made him look balloon-headed. I told him so."

Arnold didn't want to look balloon-headed.

Tribe Defeats Tech Tennis Team By 5-2

Northeast State took the top three singles matches and both doubles to win its second straight tennis contest of the year Friday afternoon, 5-2 over Louisiana Tech.

Margo Alvarez, Bob Owen and Richard Campbell — Northeast's 1-2-3 punch — had a hand in all the Indian points in the matches at the Forsythe Park courts. All three won their singles matches, Alvarez and Owen won No. 1 doubles and Campbell and Buddy Embanato took No. 2 doubles.

Alvarez, the GSC singles champion, beat Tech's Robert Taylor in the day's longest and best match. Alvarez won the first set relatively easily, 6-3, and was comfortably ahead in the second when Taylor began to battle back. The Tech star tied the score, then finally won the marathon set, 9-7, before succumbing in the third, 6-1.

Owen polished off Dennis Perry in No. 2 singles in straight sets and Campbell whipped basketballer Jim Pruett, also in straight sets.

Mike Sport and Tommy Wynn won Tech's two points, Sport beating Mike Boykin in straight sets in No. 4 and Wynn winning the final two sets in No. 5 after losing the first to Bob Statham.

A No. 6 singles was played, but did not count in the score according to Gulf States Conference practice. Northeast's F.L. Clark beat Bruce Cowan, 6-2, 6-4.

The No. 1 doubles, like the No. 1 singles, was a close match. Alvarez and Owen won the first set finally, 9-7, but lost the second, 3-6, before taking the third, 6-2.

Campbell and Embanato whipped Pruett and Sport in No. 2 easily, 6-0, 6-1.

PERALTA LOSES IN SIXTH

The cut was inflicted in the fourth round and the champion worked it over in the fifth.

The gash appeared to be at least 1½ inches wide and blood dripped into the aggressive Argentine's eye.

"I knew it was just a matter of time after that cut came up," Pastrano said after the fight. "That blood gave me a good target. All I had to do was pour it in there."

Dr. A. J. Italiano inspected the gash after the fourth round and then again after the fifth, a round in which Peralta mounted an all-out assault and battered Pastrano all over the ring.

When the bell sounded it was announced the bout was stopped. Under rules of the Louisiana Athletic Commission, it goes into the record books as a sixth round technical knockout.

Each weighed 174¾ pounds and Peralta seemed in such good spirits at the noon weigh-in that it appeared trimming down to the 175-pound division limit for the first time in 14 months hadn't weakened him.

Perhaps because of this, the 6-5 odds favoring the champion shifted to 7-5 in favor of the Argentine in the late afternoon.

Peralta had weighed 183½ pounds to Pastrano's 179 last Sept. 20 when he scored a decisive victory over Willie in a non-title 10-rounder at Miami Beach.

"I was a different boy this time," Pastrano said. "The big difference is that I was in better shape. I fought real hard."

He called the Argentine "a gallant fighter" and said he would be "glad to give him another shot if he wants it."

Pastrano was leading on the scorecards of two of the three officials and was even on the card of the third. The Associated Press card had Peralta ahead 3-2 in rounds, giving Pastrano the first two and Peralta the last three.

Referee Pete Giarrusso had it even 2-2-1 in rounds. Judge Francis Kercheval had Pastrano no ahead 4-1. He gave Pastrano the first four rounds. Judge Herman Dutriex had it 3-1-1. He gave Pastrano the first three rounds, called the next even and gave Peralta the fifth.

Peralta said the cut was caused by a butt and that he could have continued. His American manager, Charley Johnston, also claimed the cut was caused by a butt and that Peralta could have kept fighting.

"I could have gone on longer" said the downcast Peralta. "I was getting stronger with each round. The cut wasn't bothering me too much. It's just bad luck. My dream is lost."

He said he planned to fly home to Argentina today.

The defeat snapped Peralta's unbeaten streak at 29. His record now is 39-4-4. It was the second time he's been stopped. Mauro Mina of Peru stopped him on cuts nearly four years ago and that was his last defeat.

Pastrano's record now is 62-12-8.

The defense was Pastrano's first since he won the crown on a disputed 15-round decision over Harold Johnson of Philadelphia last June 1.

The partisan crowd gave Peralta a fine hand but accorded Pastrano, a New Orleans native an ovation.

There were many open spaces in the arena and the crowd was unofficially estimated at about 6,000.

The two went at it at a fast clip from the opening bell. The Argentine pressed the attack but Willie used a stinging left jab and his dancing feet to win the first two rounds.

In the third, Peralta started to land some thumping left hooks and right chops to Willie's body. It wasn't long before Pastrano's body was a glowing pink.

Still Pastrano remained calm and collected and he traded punches several times with his attacking rival.

Peralta pressed the attack time and again in the fourth and fifth rounds. He maneuvered Willie to the ropes and slammed the body with left hands and chopping rights.

GRAY'S LAST STAND

Need A Charm? Or, 'No Snakes

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—"You have to admit one thing," said Downing Gray, "I did not step on one single rattlesnake."

Nor, it must be confessed, was he struck by lightning. And no runaway freight trains ran him down on the putting green.

But those are almost the only disasters that did not befall Gray, a handsome, 25-year-old amateur golfer from Pensacola, Fla., who posted the worst opening round score of the Masters Golf Tournament Thursday, a 15-over par 87.

Gray's opening round on the Augusta National Course was unusual for one other feature. He had one of the three eagles scored, a two-under-par three at the 15th hole.

'I hit three perfect golf shots there," Gray said before he teed off Friday to try again. "I needed it. By that time I was laughing so hard I wasn't sure I would break 100."

Gray was coupled with defending champion Jack Nicklaus, who shot a one-under-par 71, just two strokes off the first round lead.

"I kept asking Jack if all this stuff I was doing was bothering his game," Gray said, "but he told me it wasn't bothering him a bit. He was sympathetic for a while, and finally, after I hit two balls into the water, at the 12th, he said to me, 'You know, this must be the funniest golf round I've ever seen.'

"By that time I was starting to agree with him."

How did it happen?

"I three-putted the first hole for a bogey," Gray said, "and on the second I hooked my tee shot down the hill into the trees. It was stuck up about two feet off the ground in the fork of a tree, and I took the penalty for an unplayable lie.

"I got birdies on five and eight but on nine I went down the hill under the TV tower. I got the ball on the green, and three putted for a six. Gave both strokes back.

"So that's 41, but the boat hasn't sunk yet, and I figure I can still shoot a 76 or so."

However, there was no 76, or anything like it. Gray bumbled to a quadruple bogey seven on the par 3 12th, and—

"No. 13 was worse. My third shot landed in the rough grass. I chipped it out, and it rolled right back in. I took a practice swing. Then I realized I was still in the hazard. It's a two-stroke penalty to take a practice swing there.

"Actually I made a pretty good putt for an eight.

'On 18, I hit the ball under the TV tower again.

Whitworth In Capitol City Tourney Lead

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Kathy Whitworth of San Antonio, Tex., took the lead after the first round of the inaugural $7,500 Capitol City Ladies Tournament Friday with a three-under-par 69.

She finished the 18 holes one stroke better than three runners up with 70s, Sybil Griffin of Boyington Beach, Fla., Kathy Cornelius of Corpus Christi, Tex., and Sandra Haynie of Phoenix, Ariz.

Mickey Wright of Dallas, playing in her first tournament since an ankle injury last February forced her to miss the first two LPGA tourneys this year, had a 71 and was happy with the score. Two others, Judy Kimball and Carol Mann, also had 71s.

Miss Whitworth, who earned close to $29,000 on the circuit last year making her second to Miss Wright, is known as one of the strongest hitters on the tour.

The 25-year-old pro, 5-foot-8 and 145 pounds, had four birdies on the front nine for a four-under-par 33. But she had trouble coming back. After a birdie on the 10th hole, she bogeyed the 15th and 17th holes to finish with a one-over-par 36 on the last nine.

Barbara Faye White of Shreveport, La., one of about 15 amateurs playing with about 30 professionals, had a three-over-par 75 for the day.

Clifford Ann Creed of Alexandria, La., current rookie of the year after finishing her first tour on the pro circuit in 1963 in fifth place in money earned, had a 75.

Panthers Not Eudora Win At Oak Grove

OAK GROVE (Special)—The Lake Providence Panthers were the winners of the triangular track meet here Thursday rather than Eudora, Ark., as was previously reported.

Lake Providence had 79 5-6 points to Eudora's 79 1-6. It was the winner's first first track victory of the season. Oak Grove was third with 43 points.

Solon Leppert Injures Thumb During Batting

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Catcher Don Leppert of the Washington Senators suffered a chip fracture of the right thumb while catching batting practice Friday and will be out of the line-up from two to three weeks.

Either Ken Retzer or Mike Brumley will catch Claude Osteen when the Senators open the season Monday against the Los Angeles Angels in Washington. Leppert is the only right-handed hitter on the cathing staff.

By EDGAR COLTHARP
World Sports Writer

Eight meet standards fell Friday in the Neville Relays as West Monroe won its second consecutive title in a close contest that was decided in the last running event.

The Rebels piled up 77 points to runner up Bolton's 74½, followed by host Neville with 59, Ouachita 34, Jonesboro 24½, Ruston, 17, Haynesville 10 and Natchitoches four.

The second place Bears led West Monroe by half a point with the triple jump and mile relay the only events remaining.

The clocking broke the existing record of 3:30.3 set by a Neville unit in 1962.

With the baton points counting double the single events West Monroe was able to eke out the 2½-point victory as Bolton placed third behind Ouachita in the long relay.

Rosenthal was a double winner, setting records in both the triple jump and high hurdles. He ran a 14.9 in the timber race to surpass Ruston's Alan Carpenter's 15.0 set in 1961.

Pappas won the 100 yard dash with a 10.3 clocking, pushed the long jump record to 21-6½, and ran a leg on the winning 440 relay team.

West Monroe's Chuck Crawford took the outstanding field trophy by winning the shot put and the discus. He also placed fifth in the high jump.

Haynesville's Butch Maddox sheared off one-half second from the 880 yard run mark with a 2:02.7 time. The old standard was shared by Smith of Haynesville, set in 1961, and Buchnas of Jonesboro who tied Smith's 2:03.2 in 1962.

In the low hurdles Gray Easterling of Bolton flew to a 19.8 winning time to easily break the 20.3 set by Neville's Fred Vogel last year.

Bolton placed one-two in the mile run with the first man finishing in meet record time. John Couvillion stepped the distance in 4:41.7, just a stride ahead of teammate Ken Williamson.

West Monroe scored most of its points in the field events while Neville and Bolton were splitting the running awards. The Bears took six first places to the Rebels' five, with Neville also getting five and Haynesville grabbing the remaining one.

Neville's Doug Cookston won the pole vault for the Tigers' only win in the field. The sophomore star cleared the bar at 12 feet for the victory.

Ray Alexander tossed the javelin 190 feet to win that event for West Monroe. Richard Golman of Bolton won the 220 yard dash in 22.8 with Ouachita's Ken Slusher second and Gary Holt of Neville third.

Neville's 440 relay crew of Pappas, Ken Brazzel, Holt, and Freddie Moses sped to a 43.9 clocking in winning the event. The time was five tenths second slower than the meet record set by another Tiger foursome in 1962.

In the special junior high relays West Monroe took the 440 and 880 distances over Lee and Jefferson in that order but Lee came back to win the mile relay with West Monroe second and Jefferson third.

Indians Host NSC Nine In Key GSC Tilts

The Gulf States Conference baseball leaders tangle today in a doubleheader which Northeast must win to take over sole possession of the conference.

The Northwestern Demons make their stand against the Tribe at 1:30 p.m. at Wossman Recreation Center off Loop Road. The invaders have only to win one half of the twinbill to take the leadership.

The Demons are 4-0 in the GSC and the Tribe only 2-0. A Northeast doubleheader slated in Hammond against Southeastern was called because of rain and cannot be rescheduled since Northeast made the trip.

The Tribe has swept a doubleheader from Southwestern in its only league action while Northwestern claims twinbill victories over McNeese and Southwestern.

Overall, Northwestern is 10-3 and Northeast 6-7. Both teams are riding winning streaks. Northeast is five games long, the Indians downing Nicholls once and Arkansas twice before sweeping Southwestern. The Demons' four GSC wins have come in a row.

Bob Rachal and Floyd Murry, a couple of righthanders with 1-2 records, will start the two games for Northeast. Rachal pitched five one-hit, shutout innings against Arkansas for his victory and Murry blanked Southwestern for his. Rachal lost to Auburn and Georgia Tech and Nicholls.

Eddie Kincaid will be behind the plate for Northeast, Jim Caskey will be at first, Joey McGinn at second, David Worthington at short and Charley Dykes at third. The outfield will have Red Hall, Alton Thomas and John Pace, left to right.

Coach George Luffey has his best bench in several years and can call on a number of good players for pinch-hitting. Keith Prince, Bobby Leake, Marvin Brosset and Joe Huffman. If his pitchers falter, Dean Bounds, Mike Tinnerello, Darryl Barnes, Glynn Saulters and Mike Vining are available for relief although Bounds and either Tinnerello or Barnes will probably pitch Monday's twin bill at McNeese.

FINLEY'S FOLLY

Yankees' Park To Have Replica

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Right field in Kansas City's ball park will soon be a green and yellow near-replica of New York's Yankee Stadium. The next question is what, if anything, can the American League do about it.

"We can't get the Yankees to conform to honest distances, so I'll conform to Yankee distances," Finley said.

The A's fence—at the point of the V—is 296 feet from the plate, the same distance as the foul pole in Yankee Stadium. It's 44 inches high, same height as the wall in the House That Ruth Built. Temporary stands are being set up behind the fence.

Finley's fence apparently is within the rule because of the key phrase "on the foul lines." Put a period after "fence" and it would be a rule violation. Doubtless, the spirit of the rule is to insure home runs hit at least 325 feet, but the rule doesn't say so.

Home runs also powered Cincinnati to a 5-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Dern Johnson, a spring surprise, slugged his sixth homer in the fourth inning. Vada Pinson crashed a two-run homer in the eighth. The Reds' Joey Jay hurled seven innings and gave up four singles.

The Chicago Cubs swept past Boston 3-1 on pinch hitter Leroy Gregory's two-run double in the seventh. Larry Jackson, scheduled to open the season for the Cubs, limited the Red Sox to hits, one of them Dick Stuart's home run in the second, in seven innings.

Bill Mazeroski's two-run single in the second inning stood up as Pittsburgh nipped Philadelphia 2-1. Richie Allen tripled in the Phillies' run in the third.

Two Victories Could Settle 1-AAA Titles

The eastern division leading Rebels travel to Bastrop for 2 p.m. contest with the Rams who fell from a share of the lead Friday after a loss to Ouachita. If the Rams claim victory this afternoon, they will be equal with the West Monroe at 4-2 and force a playoff.

By EDGAR COLTHARP
World Sports Writer

Eight meet standards fell Friday in the Neville Relays as West Monroe won its second consecutive title in a close contest that was decided in the last running event.

The Rebels piled up 77 points to runner up Bolton's 74½, followed by host Neville with 59, Ouachita 34, Jonesboro 24½, Ruston, 17, Haynesville 10 and Natchitoches four.

The clocking broke the existing record of 3:30.3 set by a Neville unit in 1962.

With the baton points counting double the single events West Monroe was able to eke out the 2½-point victory as Bolton placed third behind Ouachita in the long relay.

Rosenthal was a double winner, setting records in both the triple jump and high hurdles. He ran a 14.9 in the timber race to surpass Ruston's Alan Carpenter's 15.0 set in 1961.

Pappas won the 100 yard dash with a 10.3 clocking, pushed the long jump record to 21-6½, and ran a leg on the winning 440 relay team.

West Monroe's Chuck Crawford took the outstanding field trophy by winning the shot put and the discus. He also placed fifth in the high jump.

Haynesville's Butch Maddox sheared off one-half second from the 880 yard run mark with a 2:02.7 time. The old standard was shared by Smith of Haynesville, set in 1961, and Buchnas of Jonesboro who tied Smith's 2:03.2 in 1962.

In the low hurdles Gray Easterling of Bolton flew to a 19.8 winning time to easily break the 20.3 set by Neville's Fred Vogel last year.

Bolton placed one-two in the mile run with the first man finishing in meet record time. John Couvillion stepped the distance in 4:41.7, just a stride ahead of teammate Ken Williamson.

West Monroe scored most of its points in the field events while Neville and Bolton were splitting the running awards. The Bears took six first places to the Rebels' five, with Neville also getting five and Haynesville grabbing the remaining one.

Ray Alexander tossed the javelin 190 feet to win that event for West Monroe. Richard Golman of Bolton won the 220 yard dash in 22.8 with Ouachita's Ken Slusher second and Gary Holt of Neville third.

Neville's 440 relay crew of Pappas, Ken Brazzel, Holt, and Freddie Moses sped to a 43.9 clocking in winning the event. The time was five tenths second slower than the meet record set by another Tiger foursome in 1962.

In the special junior high relays West Monroe took the 440 and 880 distances over Lee and Jefferson in that order but Lee came back to win the mile relay with West Monroe second and Jefferson third.

Indians Host NSC Nine In Key GSC Tilts

The Gulf States Conference baseball leaders tangle today in a doubleheader which Northeast must win to take over sole possession of the conference.

The Northwestern Demons make their stand against the Tribe at 1:30 p.m. at Wossman Recreation Center off Loop Road. The invaders have only to win one half of the twinbill to take the leadership.

The Demons are 4-0 in the GSC and the Tribe only 2-0. A Northeast doubleheader slated in Hammond against Southeastern was called because of rain and cannot be rescheduled since Northeast made the trip.

The Tribe has swept a doubleheader from Southwestern in its only league action while Northwestern claims twinbill victories over McNeese and Southwestern.

Overall, Northwestern is 10-3 and Northeast 6-7. Both teams are riding winning streaks. Northeast is five games long, the Indians downing Nicholls once and Arkansas twice before sweeping Southwestern. The Demons' four GSC wins have come in a row.

Bob Rachal and Floyd Murry, a couple of righthanders with 1-2 records, will start the two games for Northeast. Rachal pitched five one-hit, shutout innings against Arkansas for his victory and Murry blanked Southwestern for his. Rachal lost to Auburn and Georgia Tech and Nicholls.

Eddie Kincaid will be behind the plate for Northeast, Jim Caskey will be at first, Joey McGinn at second, David Worthington at short and Charley Dykes at third. The outfield will have Red Hall, Alton Thomas and John Pace, left to right.

Coach George Luffey has his best bench in several years and can call on a number of good players for pinch-hitting. Keith Prince, Bobby Leake, Marvin Brosset and Joe Huffman. If his pitchers falter, Dean Bounds, Mike Tinnerello, Darryl Barnes, Glynn Saulters and Mike Vining are available for relief although Bounds and either Tinnerello or Barnes will probably pitch Monday's twin bill at McNeese.

FINLEY'S FOLLY

Yankees' Park To Have Replica

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Right field in Kansas City's ball park will soon be a green and yellow near-replica of New York's Yankee Stadium. The next question is what, if anything, can the American League do about it.

A's owner Charles O. Finley calls the V-shaped wooden right field fence a "pennant porch" because he contends the Yankee pennant dynasty was built with easy home runs in their stadium.

"We can't get the Yankees to conform to honest distances, so I'll conform to Yankee distances," Finley said.

The A's fence—at the point of the V—is 296 feet from the plate, the same distance as the foul pole in Yankee Stadium. It's 44 inches high, same height as the wall in the House That Ruth Built. Temporary stands are being set up behind the fence.

Cal Hubbard, supervisor of American League umpires, was on hand to watch construction at the request of league President Joe Cronin. Hubbard declined comment, except to offer a rule book.

The rule, which applies to parks built since 1958, specifies: ". . . A minimum distance of 325 feet from home base to the nearest fence, stand or other obstruction on the right or left field foul lines . . ."

Finley's fence apparently is within the rule because of the key phrase "on the foul lines." Put a period after "fence" and it would be a rule violation. Doubtless, the spirit of the rule is to insure home runs hit at least 325 feet, but the rule doesn't say so.

Marsalis Paces Indian Golf Team Victory

Shreveport freshman Butch Marsalis shot a torrid 70 — two under par — to lead Northeast State's golf team to a 17-4 conquest of Southeastern Friday afternoon at Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Marsalis, playing his best golf of the season, shut out Charles Duke, 3-0, in the No. 5 match as the Indians ran their season record to 2-1 in dual play.

Playing their first match of the year at home, most of the Northeast linksmen responded with a fine game. Chip Lyman and Henry Hinkle both shot 73's.

Tops for Southeastern, fielding its first golf team in 10 years, were Romine Bonaventure and Robert Marionneaux, both with 74. Marionneaux recorded the only victory of the afternoon for the visitors by downing Ken McCay in No. 5.

Lyman won the No. 2 event and he and Womack and Hinkle and Marsalis swept the two team matches without losing a point.

Cepeda's blow came off Jim Grant in the fourth inning and paved the way for the Giants' 11th triumph in 12 games with the Indians. Willie McCovey hit a solo homer in the second, and Jim Hart added one in the eighth.

Home runs also powered Cincinnati to a 5-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Dern Johnson, a spring surprise, slugged his sixth homer in the fourth inning. Vada Pinson crashed a two-run homer in the eighth. The Reds' Joey Jay hurled seven innings and gave up four singles.

The Chicago Cubs swept past Boston 3-1 on pinch hitter Leroy Gregory's two-run double in the seventh. Larry Jackson, scheduled to open the season for the Cubs, limited the Red Sox to hits, one of them Dick Stuart's home run in the second, in seven innings.

Bill Mazeroski's two-run single in the second inning stood up as Pittsburgh nipped Philadelphia 2-1. Richie Allen tripled in the Phillies' run in the third.

Milwaukee blanked Denver of the Pacific Coast League 5-0 behind the three-hit pitching of Tony Cloninger.

Two Victories Could Settle 1-AAA Titles

Victories by West Monroe and Fair Park today could settle the 1-AAA section titles and set up the district playoff.

The eastern division leading Rebels travel to Bastrop for 2 p.m. contest with the Rams who fell from a share of the lead Friday after a loss to Ouachita. If the Rams claim victory this afternoon, they will be equal with the West Monroe at 4-2 and force a playoff.

Fair Park, 6-3, plays Byrd today but a loss would mean the western division leader must play Woodlawn, 6-2, to settle the crown.

Redskins Acquire Huff From New York Giants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins, swinging their second major National Football League deal within 10 days, acquired linebacker Sam Huff from the New York Giants Friday for two players and a draft choice.

Defensive end Andy Stynchula, halfback Dick James and the Redskins' No. 5 choice in the next draft were sent to the Giants in exchange for Huff and George seals, rookie defensive lineman of Missouri.

Ten days ago coach Bill McPeak traded quarterback Norman Snead and defensive back Claude Crabb for two veteran Philadelphia players, quarterback Sonny Jurgenson and defensive halfback Jimmy Carr.

Huff, an eight-year veteran in the league, is rated one of the top middle linebakers in professional football and has been a key player on the Giant team that has won Eastern titles the past three years.

Stynchula has played four years with the Redskins since he graduated from Penn State University, while James is an eight-year veteran.

In renewing McPeak's contract for another year, Redskin officials indicated they expected him to produce a winning team this fall, and the trades obviously are steps in that direction.

The Redskins, perennial also-rans in the Eastern Division, were 3-11 last season and have not played .500 since they were 6-6 in 1956. Their last winning season was 1955, when they were 8-4 and second to Cleveland in the East.

"We felt we had to strengthen both our defensive line and our offensive backfield, and the price came high," said Coach Allie Sherman of the Giants in New York.

"With the development of Jerry Hillebrand last season as a linebacker, we felt we could spare a player at this position more readily than at any other. In addition to Jerry, we will have Bill Winter and Al Gersky trying for Huff's old job.

SO SAY THE EXPERTS

Boston Celts Will Win NBA Crown After Six

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Celtics will win their sixth straight National Basketball Association championship in a maximum of six games, say a couple of experts.

'I don't think either team in the Western Division playoff can take these Celtics, they're just too great," says coach Jack McMahon of Cincinnati. Boston beat his Royals 109-95 Thursday night for its eighth consecutive Eastern Division crown. The Celts took the series four games to one.

"It looks like Boston in six—at tops—whether San Francisco or St. Louis is the opponent," McMahon said. "If the Celtics continue to play the way they did against us and Bill Russell doesn't get hurt, they'll breeze in the playoff final."

"I figure Boston in five," states Bob Cousy, whose retirement a year ago presented an added hurdle for the Celtics to clear. Cousy had correctly predicted Boston over Cincinnati in five games.

"However," Cousy cautioned, "if the opponent is San Francisco, Boston probably would be more afraid—and therefore win more easily. Sound like a contradiction? Well, just a word of warning. Don't ever get this team really worried over you or get 'em mad.

'The Celtics did a better job on Oscar Robertson than ever has been done before. There was no comparison between the two teams."

Red Auerbach, tough drill master of the Celtics, called for a "voluntary practice" Friday for those who wanted to keep their shooting eyes sharp. But it's full scale drills today and Sunday for the Celts, who may have to wait as long as next Thursday before swinging into action in the championship best-of-seven series.

"We're not forgetting we are just two-thirds of the way home," said K. C. Jones. "We can't stop now."

As to the future, Auerbach had this to say before leaving for his Washington, D.C., home:

"Anything can happen in the Western playoff. San Francisco has got the edge but don't quote me on that. It will probably go the other way. I'm a terrible prognosticator.

"St. Louis has more depth and better scorers. The Warriors have more physical strength and offer a more punishing opposition."

Trophies Given To Block Stars At Recent Fete

District 5-B trophies were presented to both the boys and grils teams.

Badges and lettering certificates were presented to 400 boys and girls.

Three Block varsity basketball players have been selected on the All-State teams, it was announced by Coach O. D. Jackson. The All-State teams were selected by members of the Louisiana High School Athletic program.

Elva McMillin and Bonnie Bradford, in the girls division, both were selected as members of the All-state second team.

MCNEESE TO VISIT

Bulldog Batters Will Try Again

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech hurlers, who have given up only one earned run in four league games but have only a 1-3 record to show for their brilliant work, will try again here this afternoon against McNeese State.

Tech has lost three one-run decisions in GSC play, including two by 1-0 scores and one by a 2-1 count. The Canine moundsmen did not allow an earned run in any of those games.

George Woodson (4-1) and Mike Powell (3-0) will probably start against McNeese here Saturday. Gene Smith (1-1) and Arnold Ramsey (2-2) will likely face Southwestern in Lafayette Monday.

Tech pitchers have pleanty of grounds for a non-support suit. Canine batsmen have a team hitting average of .162 in the conference and .193 for the season. Yet the Techmen have won 11 of 16 games overall.

Rookie first baseman Rennie Howard is hitting .318 and catcher Wayne Poynter .313 but no other regular is anywhere near the .250 mark. Coach Berry Hinton, whose problem certainly hasn't been pitching as expected, may juggle the lineup around some for the Cowboy tilt Saturday.

Ace Woodson heads the mound corps with a 0.50 earned run average, followed close by Powell with 0.54 Ramsey's ERA is 1.04 and Smith's is 1.05. Rookie Bill Duncan has an ERA of 2.80 and Lynn Stroud a 3.00.

Hinton feels that proven hitters like Ron McNabb, Paul Labenne, Cliff Rowe and some of the other youngsters will snap the club out of the prolonged slump.

Louisiana Tech's tracksters travel to Lafayette today for the annual Southwestern Relays Saturday with ace hurdler Allen Carpenter the best bet to pick up points for the Canines.

Carpenter has a 14.2 clocking in the high hurdles and a 38.9 in the intermediate hurdles. He has continued to improve during the season and could be one of the best in the league by the time of the GSC meet in May.

Others who could pick up points in the USL Realys are Allen Laird in the two-mile and Frank Bright in the 880-yard run. Robert Daulton has a leap of 46-7½ in the triple jump and could be a threat in that event.

Tech has a double threat in the discus. Jim Goodwin has thrown it 155-9½ and freshman Tim Hall has surpassed that with a heave of 158-10.

Tech's mile relay team has been steadily improving with Joe Albritton and Tommy McKinney members of the quartet, the other two coming from Reggie Day, Bill Thomas, Carpenter, and Edwin Davis. Davis has been sidelined with a pulled muscle and is just getting back into action.

John Pennel Returns To Action At Southwestern Relays Today

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—John Pennel, aching back and all, comes off a 2½-month layoff today to open his pre-Olympic campaign in the 36th annual Southwestern Relays.

How he does may indicate if Pennel—the only man to pole vault 17 feet—can shake off his painful sacrioliac condition before the summer games.

"It's painful and it's annoying," the 23-year-old former Northeast (La.) State star said in an Associated Press interview.

"I have more or less lived with it since high school," Pennel said. "But this seems the worst I've ever had it."

Pennel, who cleared 17-feet ¾-quarter inch last year, broke his hand and heel in January. He landed on the runway while vaulting in Toronto.

His back condition—which he says is a combination of a disc ailment and a pinched nerve—developed a month ago when he started working out again.

The injury, Pennel said, is common among vaulters and high jumpers.

"Over the years, the driving action of your takeoff and the unnatural twisting movement of your body puts a strain on your lower back," he said.

"In my case," Pennel said, "my left pelvic bone has been kicked off center and driven a fraction of an inch higher than the right pelvic bone."

"The pain seems to come when I'm running," the Miami, Fla., resident said. "I could stand the pain in the air. If it came after I got off the ground, it wouldn't be so bad.

"But it hits me when I'm going down the runway. It makes me feel insecure. It throws my form off."

Competing against Pennel today are three 16-foot-plus vaulters — Rice's Warren Brattlof (16-1¼) and Fred Hansen (16-1) and Henry Wadsworth of Miami (16-0).

"I'm going to shake this thing," Pennel added. "I don't know how long it's going to take. But I'm going to do it."

Lions Win, 5-4 As Rams Fall Out Of Lead

Johnny Elmendorf hit a grounder to score Alvin Parker and Wally Rugg in the bottom of the seventh inning to put Ouachita over Bastrop, 5-4, in a 1-AAA baseball game at the Ouachita diamond Friday afternoon.

The Lions' victory dropped Bastrop from the league lead which the club had shared with West Monroe. The Rams' count fell to 3-2 to West Monroe's 3-1. Bastrop and the district leader meet today at Bastrop.

The Lions scored two runs in the bottom of the first to take a 2-1 lead. Both teams added loners in the third but Bastrop but a man across in the top of the sixth to tie the game.

The Rams moved ahead, 4-3, in the top of the seventh but two walks and fielder's choice loaded the bases with Lions in the bottom of the frame.

Kenny Cupples collected his third mound victory against one loss. In seven innings, he allowed 11 hits, walked one and struck out four.

Ram pitcher Ricky Grimmitt was charged with the loss. Ouachita got six hits. Grimmitt struck out three and walked four.

HOME OF THE GREATS

Steel Ball Spells Polo's Last Days

NEW YORK (AP) — It was the beginning of the end Friday for one of New York's most famous landmarks — the Polo Grounds.

A massive steel ball crashed against the grandstand wall and thus started demolition of this historic park where the elite ate hot dogs with the bleacherites and watched the great baseball, football and boxing stars perform for over half a century.

Old New York Giant fans milled around with the same mournful expression that characterizes a man's face when he's lost a friend. They recalled many of the baseball greats who had performed under the shadow of Coogan's Bluff since the Polo Grounds' erection in 1911—Mel Ott, Christy Mathewson, Carl Hubbell, John McGraw and Willie Mays.

They mumbled the names of many others, too, including that of Bobby Thomson, whose miracle home run in 1951 beat the Brooklyn Dodgers for the pennant on the final pitch of that historic season.

Actually, Friday's demolition ceremonies were only a formality signaling the old ball park's death. For the Giant era really ended when the club moved to San Francisco in 1958.

Redskins Acquire Huff From New York Giants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins, swinging their second major National Football League deal within 10 days, acquired linebacker Sam Huff from the New York Giants Friday for two players and a draft choice.

Defensive end Andy Stynchula, halfback Dick James and the Redskins' No. 5 choice in the next draft were sent to the Giants in exchange for Huff and George seals, rookie defensive lineman of Missouri.

Ten days ago coach Bill McPeak traded quarterback Norman Snead and defensive back Claude Crabb for two veteran Philadelphia players, quarterback Sonny Jurgenson and defensive halfback Jimmy Carr.

Huff, an eight-year veteran in the league, is rated one of the top middle linebakers in professional football and has been a key player on the Giant team that has won Eastern titles the past three years.

Stynchula has played four years with the Redskins since he graduated from Penn State University, while James is an eight-year veteran.

In renewing McPeak's contract for another year, Redskin officials indicated they expected him to produce a winning team this fall, and the trades obviously are steps in that direction.

The Redskins, perennial also-rans in the Eastern Division, were 3-11 last season and have not played .500 since they were 6-6 in 1956. Their last winning season was 1955, when they were 8-4 and second to Cleveland in the East.

"We felt we had to strengthen both our defensive line and our offensive backfield, and the price came high," said Coach Allie Sherman of the Giants in New York.

"With the development of Jerry Hillebrand last season as a linebacker, we felt we could spare a player at this position more readily than at any other. In addition to Jerry, we will have Bill Winter and Al Gersky trying for Huff's old job.

"Stynchula, in our estimation one of the best young defensive linemen in the league, can be used at either end or tackle."

SO SAY THE EXPERTS

Boston Celts Will Win NBA Crown After Six

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Celtics will win their sixth straight National Basketball Association championship in a maximum of six games, say a couple of experts.

'I don't think either team in the Western Division playoff can take these Celtics, they're just too great," says coach Jack McMahon of Cincinnati. Boston beat his Royals 109-95 Thursday night for its eighth consecutive Eastern Division crown. The Celts took the series four games to one.

"It looks like Boston in six—at tops—whether San Francisco or St. Louis is the opponent," McMahon said. "If the Celtics continue to play the way they did against us and Bill Russell doesn't get hurt, they'll breeze in the playoff final."

"I figure Boston in five," states Bob Cousy, whose retirement a year ago presented an added hurdle for the Celtics to clear. Cousy had correctly predicted Boston over Cincinnati in five games.

"However," Cousy cautioned, "if the opponent is San Francisco, Boston probably would be more afraid—and therefore win more easily. Sound like a contradiction? Well, just a word of warning. Don't ever get this team really worried over you or get 'em mad.

'The Celtics did a better job on Oscar Robertson than ever has been done before. There was no comparison between the two teams."

Red Auerbach, tough drill master of the Celtics, called for a "voluntary practice" Friday for those who wanted to keep their shooting eyes sharp. But it's full scale drills today and Sunday for the Celts, who may have to wait as long as next Thursday before swinging into action in the championship best-of-seven series.

A majority of Celtics players say they have no preference between the Warriors and Hawks as their finals foe.

"We're not forgetting we are just two-thirds of the way home," said K. C. Jones. "We can't stop now."

As to the future, Auerbach had this to say before leaving for his Washington, D.C., home:

"Anything can happen in the Western playoff. San Francisco has got the edge but don't quote me on that. It will probably go the other way. I'm a terrible prognosticator.

"St. Louis has more depth and better scorers. The Warriors have more physical strength and offer a more punishing opposition."

Trophies Given To Block Stars At Recent Fete

District 5-B trophies were presented to both the boys and grils teams.

Three Block varsity basketball players have been selected on the All-State teams, it was announced by Coach O. D. Jackson. The All-State teams were selected by members of the Louisiana High School Athletic program.

Jeff Foster, who has made an enviable record during the past semester was chosen for the All-State first team.

MCNEESE TO VISIT

Bulldog Batters Will Try Again

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech hurlers, who have given up only one earned run in four league games but have only a 1-3 record to show for their brilliant work, will try again here this afternoon against McNeese State.

Tech has lost three one-run decisions in GSC play, including two by 1-0 scores and one by a 2-1 count. The Canine moundsmen did not allow an earned run in any of those games.

George Woodson (4-1) and Mike Powell (3-0) will probably start against McNeese here Saturday. Gene Smith (1-1) and Arnold Ramsey (2-2) will likely face Southwestern in Lafayette Monday.

Tech pitchers have pleanty of grounds for a non-support suit. Canine batsmen have a team hitting average of .162 in the conference and .193 for the season. Yet the Techmen have won 11 of 16 games overall.

Rookie first baseman Rennie Howard is hitting .318 and catcher Wayne Poynter .313 but no other regular is anywhere near the .250 mark. Coach Berry Hinton, whose problem certainly hasn't been pitching as expected, may juggle the lineup around some for the Cowboy tilt Saturday.

Ace Woodson heads the mound corps with a 0.50 earned run average, followed close by Powell with 0.54 Ramsey's ERA is 1.04 and Smith's is 1.05. Rookie Bill Duncan has an ERA of 2.80 and Lynn Stroud a 3.00.

Hinton feels that proven hitters like Ron McNabb, Paul Labenne, Cliff Rowe and some of the other youngsters will snap the club out of the prolonged slump.

The young Tech golf team, which downed McNeese earlier in the week, faces Centenary here this afternoon.

Louisiana Tech's tracksters travel to Lafayette today for the annual Southwestern Relays Saturday with ace hurdler Allen Carpenter the best bet to pick up points for the Canines.

Carpenter has a 14.2 clocking in the high hurdles and a 38.9 in the intermediate hurdles. He has continued to improve during the season and could be one of the best in the league by the time of the GSC meet in May.

Others who could pick up points in the USL Realys are Allen Laird in the two-mile and Frank Bright in the 880-yard run. Robert Daulton has a leap of 46-7½ in the triple jump and could be a threat in that event.

Frank Howard and Mike Poole have both gone 6-2 in the high jump. Howard so far hasn't matched him jumping performances of last year.

Tech has a double threat in the discus. Jim Goodwin has thrown it 155-9½ and freshman Tim Hall has surpassed that with a heave of 158-10.

Tech's mile relay team has been steadily improving with Joe Albritton and Tommy McKinney members of the quartet, the other two coming from Reggie Day, Bill Thomas, Carpenter, and Edwin Davis. Davis has been sidelined with a pulled muscle and is just getting back into action.

Jimmy Hatcher is another youngster who has been impressive in all the jumping events for the Techmen.

DEAR ABBY

Honor Husband's Wish; You Owe Him Very Much

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: By the time I was 17 I had broken all the Ten Commandments except "Thou shalt not kill." I got into trouble with a boy and he ran away. The Salvation Army took me in and I had my baby at the Booth Memorial Hospital. I decided to keep my little son. I worked as a waitress to support him. I started going with a kind, sober, hard-working man. I told him the truth about myself right off, but he didn't care. He married me and adopted my 10-month-old son. He treats us grand. I don't deserve this kind of happiness. One thing bothers me. Both my husband and I have dark eyes and dark hair. My son has blue eyes and bright red hair. People keep asking us how come. My husband made me promise I would never tell anyone the boy wasn't his. Why can't I say I was married before and the boy is my first husband's?

HATES TO LIE

DEAR HATES: The boy is LEGALLY your husband's son. Blond and brunette parents can produce red-haired offspring. You owe inquisitive friends nothing. You owe your husband a great deal. Keep mum.

DEAR ABBY: The woman who wrote to say that her husband took over the grocery shopping reminded me that my husband did that trick almost 30 years ago. He got the bright idea that I was too extravagant in the grocery store. He bought all sorts of silly items and overlooked the essentials. I got disgusted, so I went to his shop (he ran a garage) and started ordering the mechanics around. I made a real nuisance of myself because I didn't know a nut from a bolt. My husband got the idea and gladly promised to stay out of my business if I stayed out of his.

WITH THE RECENT NEWS filled with the passing of General Douglas MacArthur and concern for his lovely widow, Jean Faircloth MacArthur, Mrs. Albert Marx of Monroe was good enough to pass on an interesting and intimate story from past memories. A native of Murfreesboro, Tennessee, Mrs. Marx was a neighbor of Mrs. MacArthur's family, Her mother, known as Miss Sally, was one of the best loved women in Tennessee, Mrs. Marx recalls. When Mrs. Marx married in 1914, Jean Faircloth served at her wedding reception and her half-sister, Angeline was the little flower girl. Not too long ago, Mrs. Marx received a note from Mrs. MacArthur thanking her for some of her homemade candy. Though Mrs. MacArthur's station in life took her far from her Tennessee home, Mrs. Marx declares that she has always remained the same, remembering all her old friends from home.

Loyalty Day Discussed By Jr. Girls Unit

Loyalty Day was discussed by the Junior Girls Unit of the Rodney J. Hobbs Ladies Auxiliary, VFW Post 1809, when they met last Saturday morning in the home of Auxiliary president, Mrs. G. C. Bedenbender in West Monroe.

Approved in 1958 by then President Dwight D. Eisenhower under the Eighth Congress and made Public Law 85-529, Loyalty Day designated the first of May of each year as a special day for the reaffirmation of loyalty to the United States and the heritage of American freedom. Instigated by veterans who dispaired at the May Day celebrations staged by communists in many cities here in the United States, an appeal was made for national recognition of solid, fundamental and outspoken Americanism.

Musical Style Show Given By Tallulah Club

"Lovely Louisiana," the theme chosen for the affair, was carried out with decorations of native Louisiana plants and foliage, palmetto, ivy, magnolia and Spanish moss. The stage, on which the models appeared through a vine covered arch, had been converted into a typical garden setting with a trellis in the background, picket fence and wrought iron garden furniture. On the wide mantels were arrangements of pink azaleas and silver candelabra holding pink tapers.

Preceding the style show a luncheon was served from tables centered with spring flowers. Mrs. Donald B. Lancaster presided and welcomed the guests. Mrs. Shields Bray served as narrator and Mrs. J. C. Sherwin played appoopriate piano numbers throughout the show.

Local merchants were represented with the following models displaying the latest styles in costumes for different occasions: Kaufmans by Misses Susan and Sandra Grace, Miss Karen Moberley and Mrs. Bill Johnston; Shields by Mrs. Russell Petersen, Mrs. Tom Brulte, Mrs. Lamar T. Loe and Mrs. Emmett Lancaster; Myrettes by Mrs. Bill Eaker, Mrs. John Earl Martin, Mrs. Frank Knox and Mrs. Ilar Osborne; Lad and Las Lassie by Melissa Stocks, Scotty Bailey, Debbie Netterville and Lynette Ater and Harry's by Mrs. Robert Todd and Mrs. P. C. Crum.

ANNOUNCEMENT HAS BEEN MADE of the approaching marriage of Miss Cynthia Ann McNeil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McNeil of Angola, Louisiana to Steve Malina, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Malina of Tunica, Louisiana. The couple will exchange their vows in ceremonies at the Methodist Church at Woodville at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 14. Miss McNeil is a graduate of West Monroe High School. The prospective groom is now serving with the United States Navy and is stationed at Milton, Florida.

Hey, there, Heloise:

Why don't you jump up and down, and holler and pound your desk?

YOU are the one who has made nylon net a household necessity! Those manufacturers will HAVE to listen to you! Why don't you tell them? Manufacturer, retailer, or both?

Surely you have heard the same complaint from others by now?

I still pay the same price as usual for each yard of net I buy, but it's such an inferior quality that it just doesn't hold up anymore. Why?

Catherine

Dear Folks:

Manufacturers and retailers do NOT have to listen to me.

They have to listen to YOU.

It seems a darn shame when a magnifying glass and a flashlight become necessary shopping equipment! Eh?

I would love to see some woman (besides me) pull out a magnifying glass and inspect something before purchasing it. (I actually took a magnifying glass into one store once when purchasing yards of material and they nearly dropped dead). You can bet your bottom dollar that even if you don't know what YOU are doing or looking for, that the salesman will do a turn-about-face and will RESPECT you and probably wonder why his wife never had the GALL . .

I am flooded with complaints (and samples) sent to me about nylon net. I have checked many of your complaints through one of the biggest laboratories and YOU all are correct in your "mad letters" . . . but no one can do anything about it except YOU, YOURSELF . . . you are powerful and don't even know it.

Remember the store is there for one purpose. To serve you . . . If you do NOT complain about things, the manager will not know that he has been receiving inferior merchandise. He wants to please you, too. If he didn't, he KNOWS that he would go out of business . . .

Since the women are using nylon net for so many items, there have been some inferior grades of it on the market. True. I have been in five different cities recently and bought as much as 60 and 80 yards of net at one time off the SAME counter at the SAME price, and brought it home for testing!

When I got home, I put one piece against the other.

Here's what I found:

Some nets have bigger "open meshes" (which means that the HOLES in the net are BIGGER, etc.)

The open meshes provide space for oxygen. This type net does NOT lend endurance, and if flame is applied, burning of this type fabric will occur. Neither will this inferior type net hold up for mops, dishrags, pot and pan cleaners, etc . . . for long . . .

Pick up a piece of net and TEST IT YOURSELF, (I can't buy it for you . . . wish I could!) Put one piece of net against the other or on top of the other. LOOK and COMPARE the holes in each bolt of net (Yes, even if it is on the same table and the same price) and "buy the net with the SMALLEST holes!" The smaller the holes in the net, the better bargain you will get . . . This is the easiest way I know of to test net yourself without taking along a chemist.

DON'T buy inferior qualities of anything (unless it's really inexpensive and you can use it, and quality makes no difference to you) WITHOUT comparing it with a better quality . . . FIRST! You might just decide to buy a better quality. Oftentimes it's worth the few extra cents you pay.

Don't waste your valuable time making curtains, scouring pads, floor mops, or dish cloths out of inferior net. Your time and energy are valuable.

Only YOU, my dear housewife, can complain and demand . . . and get your money's worth.

I wish I had a thousand eyes and a thousand mouths and a thousand arms so I could do this for you. (Wouldn't I look funny with that many arms and eyes and mouths?) Since this is impossible, learn to compare for yourself . . .

Love you all,
Heloise

Musical Style Show Given By Tallulah Club

The Musical Style Show, sponsored by the junior membership of the Tallulah Book Club at the Tallulah Country Club, was an outstanding event of the spring season.

"Lovely Louisiana," the theme chosen for the affair, was carried out with decorations of native Louisiana plants and foliage, palmetto, ivy, magnolia and Spanish moss. The stage, on which the models appeared through a vine covered arch, had been converted into a typical garden setting with a trellis in the background, picket fence and wrought iron garden furniture. On the wide mantels were arrangements of pink azaleas and silver candelabra holding pink tapers.

Preceding the style show a luncheon was served from tables centered with spring flowers. Mrs. Donald B. Lancaster presided and welcomed the guests. Mrs. Shields Bray served as narrator and Mrs. J. C. Sherwin played appoopriate piano numbers throughout the show.

Local merchants were represented with the following models displaying the latest styles in costumes for different occasions: Kaufmans by Misses Susan and Sandra Grace, Miss Karen Moberley and Mrs. Bill Johnston; Shields by Mrs. Russell Petersen, Mrs. Tom Brulte, Mrs. Lamar T. Loe and Mrs. Emmett Lancaster; Myrettes by Mrs. Bill Eaker, Mrs. John Earl Martin, Mrs. Frank Knox and Mrs. Ilar Osborne; Lad and Las Lassie by Melissa Stocks, Scotty Bailey, Debbie Netterville and Lynette Ater and Harry's by Mrs. Robert Todd and Mrs. P. C. Crum.

ANNOUNCEMENT HAS BEEN MADE of the approaching marriage of Miss Cynthia Ann McNeil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McNeil of Angola, Louisiana to Steve Malina, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Malina of Tunica, Louisiana. The couple will exchange their vows in ceremonies at the Methodist Church at Woodville at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 14. Miss McNeil is a graduate of West Monroe High School. The prospective groom is now serving with the United States Navy and is stationed at Milton, Florida.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many women do not know that electrolysis can be used to change an unattractive hairline. Most of them think of it only as a permanent method to get rid of unwanted hair on the arms and legs and face. It is the only method which removes hair permanently.

Sometimes the way a women's hair grows about her forehead and temples is a real handicap. For instance, she may have an adequate forehead and a well-shaped face, but her hair may grow far down on her forehead.

Her hairline can be lifted by electrolysis. When lifting a low hairline, the operator works on both sides each time so that there is never any lack of symmetry. Sometimes even husbands do not realize what is happening. They just know that their wife is getting better looking.

Some women have hair which grows much further down on one side of the forehead than the other, so that they naturally have a lopsided appearance. Of course with electrolysis the hairline can be made even.

Sometimes the hair grows far down at the temples and these stringy hairs detract from a woman's appearance. This too can be permanently corrected. The way in which your hair frames your face can make an unbelievable difference in the way you look.

Sometimes I have noticed that friends and members of my family look prettier at night when their hair is not arranged in the usual manner than they do in the daytime. This certainly indicates that the coiffure they are wearing is not the best for them.

It's a good idea to observe yourself. You may be wearing your hair too full at the sides or you may not have enough height on top.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Framing Your Face Attractively" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet number 51 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Executives Eat Poorly

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Do businessmen really eat well?

Not necessarily, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which reports that business and professional men in their 50's who have a good education and enough money to buy a good diet don't always choose one.

Some also need nutrition guidance, said the USDA. In a recent study of a number of men in one midwestern city, only half the men chose food that provided 100 per cent of allowances for calcium, thiamine and riboflavin.

MEN'S TIES

Fifty-six per cent of all men's ties sold last year were two inches wide, the Men's Tie Foundation reports. That width is most popular in New England states, accounting for 66 per cent of tie sales there. It is least popular in Wes tCoast states, accounting for only 28 per cent of the sales there. The West Coast's males prefer a narrower — one and one-half inch — tie, the foundation said.

Nursing School Open House Set At College Here

High school students from throughout north Louisiana are expected to attend the Department of Nursing's Open House at Northeast Louisiana State College here today.

The affair will begin at 8:15 a.m. in the College Union auditorium and end around noon. Dr. Anna Helen Gallagher, head of the Department of Nursing, is scheduled to talk on opportunity in nursing and Northeast State's nursing program and then hold a question-and-answer session.

Also scheduled are tours of the Northeast State campus, St. Francis Hospital and the new facilities of the Ouachita Parish Public Health Unit.

Parish Officers Hold Suspect On Morals Charge

He was identified as William T. Phillips, 27, charged with indecent behavior with a juvenile. He was arrested by deputies Friday afternoon following an incident with a 12-year-old girl Thursday night.

Bond was set at $1,500, Sheriff Grant said.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many women do not know that electrolysis can be used to change an unattractive hairline. Most of them think of it only as a permanent method to get rid of unwanted hair on the arms and legs and face. It is the only method which removes hair permanently.

Sometimes the way a women's hair grows about her forehead and temples is a real handicap. For instance, she may have an adequate forehead and a well-shaped face, but her hair may grow far down on her forehead.

Her hairline can be lifted by electrolysis. When lifting a low hairline, the operator works on both sides each time so that there is never any lack of symmetry. Sometimes even husbands do not realize what is happening. They just know that their wife is getting better looking.

Some women have hair which grows much further down on one side of the forehead than the other, so that they naturally have a lopsided appearance. Of course with electrolysis the hairline can be made even.

Sometimes the hair grows far down at the temples and these stringy hairs detract from a woman's appearance. This too can be permanently corrected. The way in which your hair frames your face can make an unbelievable difference in the way you look.

Sometimes I have noticed that friends and members of my family look prettier at night when their hair is not arranged in the usual manner than they do in the daytime. This certainly indicates that the coiffure they are wearing is not the best for them.

It's a good idea to observe yourself. You may be wearing your hair too full at the sides or you may not have enough height on top.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Framing Your Face Attractively" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet number 51 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Executives Eat Poorly

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Do businessmen really eat well?

Not necessarily, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which reports that business and professional men in their 50's who have a good education and enough money to buy a good diet don't always choose one.

Some also need nutrition guidance, said the USDA. In a recent study of a number of men in one midwestern city, only half the men chose food that provided 100 per cent of allowances for calcium, thiamine and riboflavin.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 25 cents a bale lower to $2.25 higher Friday. Only nearby May contracts closed lower in light trading.

The market opened generally lower, with declines limited. Prices improved in later dealings and rallied briskly toward the close. Buying was credited to short covering, following a sharp market break on Thursday.

Some traders, who sold futures, also bought back contracts because trade quarters thought the new cotton bill, passed by the House, will be signed on Saturday by President Johnson.

These sources also felt the Department of Agriculture will shortly thereafter issue regulations for carrying out provisions of the bill.

Most important to futures trading is the decision by the secretary as to who will receive the subsidy payment in cotton to permit domestic mills to buy cotton at lower levels approximating world prices.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 25 cents a bale lower to $2.25 higher Friday. Only nearby May contracts closed lower in light trading.

The market opened generally lower, with declines limited. Prices improved in later dealings and rallied briskly toward the close. Buying was credited to short covering, following a sharp market break on Thursday.

Some traders, who sold futures, also bought back contracts because trade quarters thought the new cotton bill, passed by the House, will be signed on Saturday by President Johnson.

These sources also felt the Department of Agriculture will shortly thereafter issue regulations for carrying out provisions of the bill.

Most important to futures trading is the decision by the secretary as to who will receive the subsidy payment in cotton to permit domestic mills to buy cotton at lower levels approximating world prices.

Volume totaled 4,990,000 shares compared with 5,300,000 shares Thursday. Of the 1,349 issues traded, 611 advanced, 105 to new 1964 highs, while 459 declined, 19 to new lows.

CHILDREN SHOT

Auschwitz Inmates Tell Of Brutalities

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—Two poles who were imprisoned in the Auschwitz concentration camp testified today that their Gestapo guards kicked women into gas chambers and shot children suspected of stealing food.

Stefan Boratynski, 46, a Polish journalist from Cracow who was an inmate of Auschwitz, recalled watching Kaduk and other Gestapo guards as they met newly arrived inmates. The Pole said he witnessed the scene after crawling under a train.

"Kaduk was at the ramp where he was separating families and kicking women and children toward the gas chambers," Boratynski testified. "Suddenly a little boy about 10 jumped into one of the wagons and came out a moment later with a suitcase. I figured he was stealing some food. All of a sudden there was Kaduk.

"Kaduk ran after him. The boy didn't know where to go. He got caught in a big wire fence. Kaduk came up from behind him. Kaduk shot him in the neck. The boy screamed.

"I ran away because I was afraid I'd be discovered. A little while later I came back and found the boy lying in the dirt. He was dead."

The judge turned to Kaduk. "Have you anything to say?"

"I never shot a prisoner the first time he stole anything. I never shot thieves in Auschwitz. If I caught them with something I'd bawl them out—and maybe give them 25 lashes."

"Kaduk was a dangerous man," Lawrynowicz said. "You never knew when he would beat you. I often saw him with a carbine in hand when he entered the prison barracks. It was a bad sign when he wore his special rubber boots.

IN WEST MONROE

Boat Dock, Park Projects Progress

Two projects of special interest to West Monroe water enthusiasts were described Friday as progressing.

One of them—for a boat dock under the I-20 bridge — was nearing fruition after two years of effort, while the other — for a park on the southside — is in the early stages.

Louisiana Highway Director Ray Burgess told city officials by phone Friday he would "try to start work" on the I-20 dock before he leaves office May 11.

The West Monroe Chamber of Commerce has led the two year effort to bring the project to its final stages. The civic improvement committee has been prime mover.

Over the Ouachita levee at the west end of Lazarre Street, the city owns about three acres which will be improved as finances permit with the passage of time.

Picnic tables and a ramp are the main improvements aimed for in the forseeable future.

Several frame dwellings on the city land were removed or burned during the past week, and earth moving equipment is ticketed to move into the area next Monday or Tuesday.

Slope of the land is described as suitable for boat launching and will become available for public activities with the completion of clearing operations.

Local Man Dies Of Heart Attack

A Monroe man was dead on arrival Friday night at Glenwood Hospital after apparently suffering a heart attack, according to Dr. John P. Burton, Ouachita Parish coroner.

He was identified as John Monroe Neighbors, about 48, of 1600 S. 1st St. Monroe. He was stricken with the attack about 8 p.m. at a recreation center on Pine Street in West Monroe. Guy Obanion took him to the police department, where Kilpatrick ambulance was called to take him to the hospital.

Elections Set In LaSalle For Roads, Bridges

JENA (Special) — The LaSalle parish Police Jury has set road and bridge tax elections for May 9.

Property holders will vote on a proposed one mill airport maintenance and improvement tax to run four years.

Ward road and bridge taxes to be voted on include two five mill taxes in ward one giving a total of 10 mills. This is a renewal vote on already existing taxes.

Other taxes up for renewal are a five mill tax in ward three, a five mill tax in ward five and a five mill tax in ward six. All are proposed for four years.

Property owning voters of ward five will also vote on a two mill recreation tax to finance a lighted ball park at Nebo. The jury has signed a lease agreement for the land with Bobcaw Co. It is located off La. 127 on the Nebo school road.

Ward eight and ward six will each vote on a new five mill road and bridge tax with the understanding that next year the present five mill tax will not be renewed. This will have the effect of providing a 10 mill tax for one year, then the tax level will drop back to five mills.

Incoming ward eight member Phillip Bradford requested the action of Baker Collins, outgoing member. Lloyd Thompson proposed the action in ward six. The two jurors plan to use the extra five mills to buy a motor grader to be used in the two wards.

In ward four property owners will vote on a five mill tax. This will be proposed in place of a three mill tax now expiring with the understanding that a two mill tax which will expire next year will not be renewed. The effect will be for the ward tax to rise to seven mills for one year, then drop back to the present five mill level. Juror George Trussell plans to buy a grass cutter to be used on ward roadsides with the extra two mills.

The jury will meet May 11 in the courthouse to promulgate the returns.

Cyprus Force Wins, Loses

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—The U.N. peace force has been in business two weeks on Cyprus, and has scored in some areas —and lost in others.

Tension has relaxed on much of the island since the blue berets were donned by U.N. peacekeepers March 27.

In Greek Cypriot areas business activity and even building constructions have increased. The Greeks appear to be more optimistic about the future.

But Turkish Cypriot leaders are daily becoming more disenchanted with the U.N. force and particularly its head, Indian Gen. Prem Singh Gyani.

They have said as much to Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, U.N. undersecretary, who is here on a three-day visit.

There also is a growing dissatisfaction among British troops and in the British Parliament over the role of the British, who comprise the bulk of the 7,000-man five-nation force.

There has been criticism in the British Parliament over the exact orders under which the peace force is operating.

NEWS ANALYSIS

The British soldiers feel they have been humiliated by Greek Cypriots. Last Sunday, 20 British soldiers wearing U.N. blue were detained for more than two hours at gunpoint at a Greek Cypriot roadblock in western Cyprus.

Both Cypriots and the British soldiers have memories that go back to the Eoka days when the Greek Cypriots were fighting for independence from Britain. Under these conditions, the British soldier may tend to side with the Turks in their battles against the Greeks.

An official Turkish news bulletin, in an open letter to Bunche, complained that the peace force has failed in its mission so far.

The Turks charge that the United Nations has not been able to restore freedom of movement on public roads or halt what they describe as illegal searches and "crimes by Greek Cypriot Eoka terrorists in police uniform."

They have said the United Nations has done nothing to keep the Turks from getting roughed up or even killed.

CHILDREN SHOT

Auschwitz Inmates Tell Of Brutalities

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—Two poles who were imprisoned in the Auschwitz concentration camp testified today that their Gestapo guards kicked women into gas chambers and shot children suspected of stealing food.

"I'd bawl them out—and maybe give them 25 lashes," Kaduk said.

Stefan Boratynski, 46, a Polish journalist from Cracow who was an inmate of Auschwitz, recalled watching Kaduk and other Gestapo guards as they met newly arrived inmates. The Pole said he witnessed the scene after crawling under a train.

"Kaduk was at the ramp where he was separating families and kicking women and children toward the gas chambers," Boratynski testified. "Suddenly a little boy about 10 jumped into one of the wagons and came out a moment later with a suitcase. I figured he was stealing some food. All of a sudden there was Kaduk.

"Kaduk ran after him. The boy didn't know where to go. He got caught in a big wire fence. Kaduk came up from behind him. Kaduk shot him in the neck. The boy screamed.

"I ran away because I was afraid I'd be discovered. A little while later I came back and found the boy lying in the dirt. He was dead."

The judge turned to Kaduk. "Have you anything to say?"

"I never shot a prisoner the first time he stole anything. I never shot thieves in Auschwitz. If I caught them with something I'd bawl them out—and maybe give them 25 lashes."

"Kaduk was a dangerous man," Lawrynowicz said. "You never knew when he would beat you. I often saw him with a carbine in hand when he entered the prison barracks. It was a bad sign when he wore his special rubber boots.

Boat Dock, Park Projects Progress

Two projects of special interest to West Monroe water enthusiasts were described Friday as progressing.

One of them—for a boat dock under the I-20 bridge — was nearing fruition after two years of effort, while the other — for a park on the southside — is in the early stages.

Louisiana Highway Director Ray Burgess told city officials by phone Friday he would "try to start work" on the I-20 dock before he leaves office May 11.

The West Monroe Chamber of Commerce has led the two year effort to bring the project to its final stages. The civic improvement committee has been prime mover.

Meantime, a similar ramp is among plans for the future at the proposed park, further south.

Over the Ouachita levee at the west end of Lazarre Street, the city owns about three acres which will be improved as finances permit with the passage of time.
